Fullest Cooperation Is Promise of Curran

By SHANE CROSBY

ROSENDALE

With the prediction of "complete cooperation between the Village and Town of Rosendale," newly elected Village Mayor William P. Curran reveled at his 11-vote victory Tuesday over Democratic incumbent Joseph S. Reid. Curran joined with fellow Republicans after the votes were tallied and said the village and town would begin a cooperative effort to improve mutual relations.

Supervisor Gerald DeFelice of the Town of Rosendale joined with the new mayor in saying the cooperation would result in financial savings for both administrations that are now basically Republican with the election of Curran and Kenneth A. Smith who was elected Trustee.

Curran said the election was "fair and representative," noting this year's tally of 241 to 230 in the tightly contested race.

He said the voting was "very close," remembering how he had lost the same post to Reid in 1967 by a mere 14 votes. With 478 persons casting votes, plus seven absentee votes, out of about 600 eligible voters in the village, the closeness of the race was accentuated by what officials called "a very good village turnout."

Outgoing Mayor Reid commented that he "had no regrets whatsoever," and said he would "keep an eye" on the new administration to see "where the money will be saved." Reid said he has no intention of running two years from now, but added he would remain active in political affairs.

Village-town relations were a question in this year's election. Curran placed them on a par with financial problems of the Reid Administration. Curran said after the voting that the "principle of cooperation" had been a main point in his seeking the mayoral post and contended that the two bodies would return to a closeness not seen since Reid took office.

The Republican had chided Reid during the campaign for what Curran called "reckless spending" and leading the village on a "collision course with bankruptcy." Curran said he was keeping personalities out of the race, contending the "real issues" dealt with money matters.

Reid sought reelection on the accomplishments of his two years in office, so he might complete programs already underway.

Smith took the trustee post being vacated by Joseph LaFera by 272 to 200 over Democrat Donald Juhl. Wilfred P. Doolittle, running on the Reid ticket for Village Justice, beat Republican backed Thomas J. Hanrahan 271 to 182.

A question on the eligibility of LaFera and his wife to vote was lodged by Curran who charged the LaFera's had already moved to neighboring Marbletown before voting day. He indicated that he would challenge their votes if the closeness of the outcome indicated two votes would swing the election.

The two men, who faced each other in an equally tight race in 1967, indicated throughout the campaign they would refrain from bringing up personalities.

A rift in village-town relations had been seen by Curran in the Reid Administration and this, plus questions of the financial condition of the Democratic ad-

GOP Ends Long Dem Reign in Ellenville

ELLENVILLE
"All along," said Ellenville's Mayor-elect Robert Dowling, "I felt I was going to win."

"The indications were there. It was time for a change and the people of Ellenville realized that," he added.

"Time for a Change — that was the Republican slogan — and when the 45-year-old correction officer at Catskill State Reformatory assumes his new office on April 1 it will be the first time a Republican has sat in the Mayor's chair in 14 years."

Dowling, elected to the Board of Trustees only a year ago in his first try for public office, stopped incumbent Democrat Eugene Glusker's bid for an eighth consecutive term Tuesday, by 84 votes, 672-588.

Edwin Hoar led all candidates in the poll parade, winning his fifth term as a trustee on the GOP ticket with a total of 839 votes out of 1272 cast. Walter Grey, the lone remaining Democrat on the Board, retained his seat with a 577 total, Republican Rivan Krieger narrowly missed with 555 and Democrat Abraham Lubliner trailed the field with 471.

"It's just what we've been saying all along," Dowling pointed out after the results were read. "It's time for a change."

"I'm very happy I won. I think it's a tribute to the hard working party members who did so much in our behalf."

"I said that I was going to be able to devote more time to the job than Mayor Glusker could because I have two days off a week that I can devote to the village and the first thing that I am going to do is to open the Village Hall one night a week so that I can listen to people with something on their minds."

"I'm going to try to make myself available to the people of Ellenville whenever I can. We promised that we were going to make some changes and now we're going to go out and do it."

Glusker, still wearing the jovial grin that has been his long-time trademark, was pragmatic about his defeat. Indicating that the loss by no means puts him out of any future political picture, he said "my 14 years as mayor have been very happy ones. I have no regrets."

The campaign itself had been a quiet one, with a complete lack of political mudslinging and name calling.

Dowling's work, as well as those of his running mates Hoar and Krieger, was on the streets, ringing doorbells and trying to convince the electorate that he was the most responsible person to have in office with the problems currently facing the village.

The issues that plagued the current administration, of which he was a part, are not the sort that lent themselves to a hot campaign.

The biggest issue is the housing crisis, and although the mayor-elect was not ready to publicly commit himself on the merits of the Housing Authority's proposed 100-unit turnkey development, he agreed that a proposal such as leased housing, which would keep properties on the village tax rolls would be more preferable.

With the institution of an almost solidly Republican Board, leased housing would seem to be the prevailing opinion, and Gray, who stood alone in publicly supporting Housing Authority Chairman Gordon Kent, noted that turnkey could, at this point, be a dead issue.

"I said it after the hearing a couple of weeks ago," he pointed out, "and I've got to say it again. 'We've wasted too much time already, and I don't know how much longer we can wait and still get approval for this project.'"

"From what I've heard, we pretty much lost out when we didn't put it through in February."

Kent is confident that the project can still be approved by the department of Housing and Urban Development (HUD) and built by the end of next winter if the new Board consents by the end of April.

With the election results in, Gray said that such a decision is doubtful. Trustee DeWitt Clinton has publicly opposed turnkey, and should it come to an immediate vote, Gray said, "I'm afraid I'd be a voice in the wilderness."

The first action that faces the new board will be the selection of a trustee to finish out the remaining year of Dowling's term. Krieger, who missed out in his first try for public office by 22 votes, is a definite possibility.

The turnout was a light one, compared to the 1,567 persons who voted two years ago, although Wawarsing Republican Chairman Supervisor Frank W. Harkin had thought a heavy turnout necessary for a GOP win.

"The indications were there," he said, "and we knew we could take it if we could get the people out. We had people on the phones all day calling everyone they knew and we got the results."

"We knew we had it in the last hour or so," Clinton said. "We must have gotten at least 25 votes after 8 o'clock." It was a good omen.

Harkin predicted good things for the new Board. "I can see the Village and the Town working far more closely together in the future," he said, "and that has to bring good results."

Pointing to the recently formed Wawarsing Narcotics Guidance Council, which is to be funded jointly by the Town and Village, he noted that Dowling alone of the Board members has attended all the meetings.

When the idea of a storefront, where persons with drug problems could go anonymously to meet with counselors from the addict care center, Renaissance was broached, he noted that Dowling was instrumental in securing an urban renewal building for their use.

With the village considering such large scale operations as the possibility of acquiring the Mt. Cathalia ski center as an all year recreation area, Harkin said cooperation between the two governmental units is going to be a big help in the future.

Hand (Ellroy) Does It Again

RED HOOK

You have to hand it to Red Hook's Mayor Ellroy C. Hand. He did it again. He faced two challengers in the village election, and came out on top. One year he faced three contenders.

Hand's vote in the Tuesday balloting was 268. Former mayor and perennial candidate, Oliver E. Rider polled 162 votes and Arthur Hand (no relation to the mayor) received 137 votes.

Successful Ticket

Mayor Hand's ticket, which included two incumbent trustees and a police justice also won. Trustee Robert M. Bowman received 426 votes and Trustee Frederick L. Cotting was given 366. Justice Frank Kolbenski polled 339 votes.

The slate was successful over Rider's candidates, Lloyd C. Mobely who received 126 votes and Allen T. Smith who tallied 150. Arnold Colburn who ran on Rider's ticket as well as his own Justice ticket received a total of 213. With the slate he received 171, alone, 42.

Arthur Hand ran as an independent candidate without a slate.

Mayor Hand enters his fourth term saying he has and intends to continue "building a better Red Hook" and that he and his fellow office holders will "continue to do the best we can."

The defeated Arthur Hand, an IBM employee and newcomer to the political scene said he "would be back" to try for an office once again. He said he was pleased to have received the number of votes he did and felt it was encouraging.

The campaigns of the three candidates reached a climax last week with Mayor Hand defending himself against Rider's charges of road neglect and Arthur Hand calling for more cooperation in government.

Rider also charged that older retired people in the community will find it hard to get money for taxes. He claimed that taxpayer's money could be saved if the village's equipment were better cared for.

Mayor Hand countered to the charges and commented with regard to road neglect that he had contacted the state, county and town officials regarding cold patching streets at this time, and was told that there is no known substance made that will stay in potholes at this time of year because of frost and water conditions.

With regard to large purchases and capital improvements, Mayor Hand said they could not be paid for out of the village budget because the tax rate would not be steady.

Answered Charges

The mayor also answered charges of "secret meetings," saying, "We have no secret meetings. We do however have many meetings between regular of the Hand Funeral Home in monthly meetings to plan things Red Hook, said he was undecided on whether he would portant matters. All our planing is made outside of the regular monthly meetings. . . Minutes of special meetings are read and approved at the following monthly meeting. Reporters of all local papers are present and these proceedings are in the next issue of their papers."

Two other trustees whose terms do not expire at this time, will remain on the board. They are John Gilfeather and James Melley.

The village board meets the first Monday of each month at 7:30 in the village offices at 24 South Broadway.

Rhinebeck Ground-Breaking Set Soon

By LYNN MULVANEY

RHINEBECK

Less than half the eligible voters of the Village of Rhinebeck went to the polls Tuesday and approved a $350,000 bond issue for a new firehouse-village hall complex. The measure passed by an 82-vote margin, with a resultant $1.40 per thousand tax rate increase.

Of the 1,290 registered voters, 490 turned out. Property owners approved the measure 230 to 177 and non-property owners gave their endorsement by a vote of 59 to 24.

Elated that the bond issue received voted sanction, George Crowley, president of the local fire company said he was "very happy" and credited the victory to the "good public relations job we did in the village."

Ground-breaking for the new facility is expected in the immediate future. Newly elected Mayor Peter Sinnerley said demolition of the present lumber company building on the property on East Market Street is expected to begin shortly and that the cost of demolishing the wooden portion of the building, may be completed without cost to the village. There would be a charge for the demolition of brick, he said.

The bond issue appeal made to the voters was based mainly on the need for a new facility to house the fire equipment. In

Dye States His Reasons For Entering June Primary

A town hall-full of persons interested in the candidacy of Douglas V. Dye for reelection to the county legislature heard the majority leader speak out on the issues Tuesday night and explain why he is entering the June 17 Primary.

Dye, a Second District Republican from the Town of Kingston was defeated last week in his bid for the GOP nomination to be a candidate in the November election.

His stand on what he considers the main issues facing the county government revealed that Dye favors construction of a new county jail and opposes present plans for a proposed airport.

Stating he doesn't think that an airport need has been established.

More Comfort Wearing FALSE TEETH

To overcome discomfort when dentures slip, slide or loosen, just sprinkle a little FASTEETH on your plates. FASTEETH holds dentures firmer. You eat better, feel more comfortable. FASTEETH is alkaline — won't sour. Helps check plate odor. Dentures that fit are essential to health. See your dentist regularly. Get FASTEETH at all drug counters.

lished, Dye said he is concerned with the capital and operating costs to the county. Additionally, he cited the fact that all surrounding airports in the vicinity are reported to be losing money. As a possible alternative he suggested subsidization of present local airports.

The proposed reorganization of the county assessment structure which would do away with town assessors is also favored by the candidate who approves the appointing of professional assessors and the dividing of the county into assessment districts. "Then we could take a look at tax mapping and see if it is worthy of consideration."

Social services is also an issue with Dye who told his listeners about the food stamp plan and the county's efforts to implement it. He also stated he was opposed to the "honor system" which gives welfare assistance without investigation.

Dye also discussed the county highway department, suggesting that a cost analysis of operational costs of contracts for state snow removal be undertaken by management consultants.

The former Town of Kingston supervisor also seeks reclassification of highway employee salaries and approves a master plan of the department already underway by County Planning Director Herbert Hekler.

Dye outlined his past accomplishments listing such things as his part in the resolution for the infirmary annex, the two bridges of the Second District, the reduction of county taxes for 1969 and his accompanying own personal recommendation that all county department heads attempt a five per cent reduction in their budgets.

Dye also cited the fact that he had a part in the reduction of Town of Kingston taxes, which over the past four years, have dropped from $37 per thousand to $14.

He stressed that he did not accomplish these things by himself but with the assistance of town and county supervisors and legislators.

Dye's future timetable includes a March 31 meeting to circulate petitions during April; a district meeting in May to collect petitions and a final district meeting June 9 to prepare for the final days before the June 17 Primary.

Mones: Not a Candidate; Quilty: Still Uncommitted

By HUGH REYNOLDS

KINGSTON — Kingston Legislator Melvin Mones ended conjecture on whether or not he would run for mayor with a firm statement Tuesday night at a meeting of the city committee that he is a candidate for county legislator and nothing else.

The Republican mayoral picture is still in a state of flux, however, as another possible candidate, Lawrence A. Quilty made no commitment either way. Instead, Quilty sent a communication asking to be excused (as a committeeman) from the meeting to allow a freer discussion of the mayoral situation in his absence. His name has been prominently mentioned as a mayoral candidate.

With their unofficial city convention less than a week away (March 24) the Republicans did take some positive action in picking a slate of aldermen and legislators.

According to party chairman Ward W. Ingalsbe Jr., there is general agreement on nominating the six incumbent Republican legislators which include Mones, Addison Jones, Samuel Perry, Clarence Raichle, John Sangaline and Wendell Scherer.

There are two vacancies on the legislative ticket and William Merrill has announced that he is a candidate for one of them.

The picture is not as clear on the aldermanic level but several names were brought out last night and are under serious consideration. John Machione, the Common Council's only Republican, will seek his fifth term.

Other possibilities are James Thompson, a news director at a local radio station in the Third Ward; Peter Fisher, former 10th Ward alderman in the Fourth Ward; Thomas Davitt in the Seventh; Edmund Roux in the Ninth; Richard Kelderhouse in the 10th; David Rylance in the 12th; and Titus (Bernie) Sims in the 13th Ward.

Ingalsbe said the party will run a full slate of the best candidates we can get. Decisions are yet to be made on candidates in the First, Fifth, Sixth, Eighth and 11th Wards.

The mayoral race heated up somewhat today with a statement from one of the declared candidates, former city Republican chairman, John R. Mayone. Mayone told The Freeman that he has refused to make a no primary pledge. He said, "I am convinced that when I win the nomination that the forces against me will force a primary. I'm going to be in a primary if I win the nomination. Why not if I lose?"

Mayone further said, "If I win the nomination, I can win (the election). I declared against Garraghan and I thought I could beat him. With Ray out of the picture we'll never know. But I'm certain I can beat any candidate the Democrats put up."

Mayone's two declared opponents for the nomination are James Tyrrell, an operations director at a local radio station and Clifford V. Bunting, an Uptown businessman. Both are on record as taking a wait and see attitude on the possibility of a primary.

There is still no word from the Democratic camp on candidates for mayor and alderman-at-large. The Democrats' choices hinge on whether or not in the county legislature, where the Democrats hold only two seats, by William Edelmuth and Orrie Riehl. Six vacancies will have to be filled for county legislator with Riehl and Edelmuth running for reelection.

The Republicans meet on the Council, the lone vacancy March 24, the Democrats on being Machione's Second Ward. March 26, both in the County Court.

Koenig, Gallo on Dem Slate

KINGSTON — The Freeman has learned that the Democrats will submit the names of Francis R. Koenig for mayor and T. Robert Gallo for alderman-at-large at the unofficial party convention on Wednesday night.

Koenig is a former alderman-at-large who ran with Mayor Raymond W. Garraghan in 1965, and led the ticket. He chose not to seek reelection in 1967. Gallo ran that year with Garraghan and was elected to his present post of alderman-at-large.

The ticket reportedly has the full approval of Garraghan who reportedly termed it a "dream ticket," an "unbeatable ticket."

The Koenig-Gallo ticket reportedly came as a result of a top-level meeting of Democrats Tuesday night where Garraghan convinced everyone that he was not a candidate under any circumstances.

Both Gallo and Koenig are former Ninth Ward aldermen. Gallo operates a florist business. Koenig is in the insurance business.

Many Problems Ahead For Rhinebeck Mayor

By LYNN MULVANEY
RHINEBECK

When village trustee Peter Sipperley announced his candidacy for mayor of Rhinebeck he outlined an extensive number of problems he feels need official attention. Now he has his work cut out for him.

Takes Office April 7

He and the entire slate, up before the voters Tuesday, were elected automatically with no opposition. Sipperley, who received the endorsement of the incumbent Mayor Robert Shackleton, will take office April 7 at a reorganizational meeting. So will newly elected Francis Kinney, a teacher at J. Watson Bailey School in Kingston and John Marks, an electrician and vice president of the Rhinebeck Fire Department. The two men will fill posts being vacated by Sipperley and Louis Asher who did not seek another term. Also on the board with terms still to run one year are Eugene Trombini and John Forbes Jr.

Sipperley, prior to election, expressed the fact that public officials concern themselves too much with the future while overlooking the problems of the present which he said include a few major ones.

Specifically Sipperley is interested in the building of the new firehouse-village hall complex, in opposing present air pollution laws and considering the possibility of having village employees organized under the Taylor Law. Sipperley said he is not opposed to such organization because "the law protects the village as well as the employees."

Will Support Efforts

Regarding air pollution he said the village board will support "all efforts to get this nonsense changed into a sensible, workable law under local control."

Students Missing

OMACHI, Japan (UPI)—Five students were missing today after an avalanche swept them away near the peak of Mt. Iwo in the northern Japan Alps. They were part of an eight-member climbing party trapped Tuesday by a snow slide. Three of the students dug themselves out.

SAUGERTIES WINNERS — Joining Mayor Cornelius M. Cox as winners in Tuesday's Saugerties Village election

Mayor Cox Polls 160 of the 169

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

SAUGERTIES

Mayor Cornelius M. Cox, who was reelected to his third full term said the larger vote than in 1967, which was also uncontested, indicates that the people are satisfied and grateful for the Village Party's administration of their government.

A total of 169 voters cast ballots in the uncontested village election Tuesday night. Cox tallied 160 votes. The three incumbent trustees, also of the Village Party received the following: Maurice L. Clements 148; Donald R. McCaig 157 and Gregory A. Mulstay 151. The mayor said he believed McCaig, who is village fire commissioner led the ticket two years ago.

There were eight write-ins, two for each line on the ticket. Attorney G. Thomas Rea Jr., president of the Saugerties Democratic Club received two votes for mayor. Gerald Ollinger, James Keefe and Maurice Hinchey Jr., each received two votes for the trustee posts. Hinchey is the town Democratic chairman.

Cox was named mayor for the first time in November 1964 when he filled the unexpired term of the late William Ziegler. Cox was reelected in 1965 and 1967, prior to that he served as a village trustee and police commissioner for 7½ years.

Mayor Cox said his administration still has some unfinished projects to complete and some new ones that are in the preliminary stages. He said that much improvement is planned at the Municipal Bathing Beach and efforts are being made to find some aid funds to assist the village with the costs.

Other trustees on the Village Board, who were not up for election this year include Charles Steele, the police commissioner; Richard Underhill and Arthur D. York, the building commissioner. All are of the Village Party.

Wadler Again In Pine Hill

PINE HILL. The tiny Village of Pine Hill in the western reaches of Ulster County held a rather quiet uncontested election Tuesday with no surprises.

Bernard Wadler, incumbent mayor was reelected with 23 votes cast on his line. Incumbent trustee, Leonard Van Valkenburgh also garnered 23 votes. Both are members of the Union Party. There was one void ballot.

For Period Ending 7 a. m. EST Thursday
Tonight, will find showers along the north Pacific coast and in parts of the lower Mississippi valley. Otherwise, mostly fair weather should prevail elsewhere. In Woodstock: Review Group On the Signs

By TOBIE GEERTSEMA

WOODSTOCK

Woodstock, which spent many years planning and preparing a Zoning Ordinance and which has lived with such an ordinance for the past three years, now has a Zoning Review Committee.

Technically, it is the second such committee to be appointed in the art colony since the adoption of the ordinance. The first committee, named by former supervisor William West Jr., spent some 18 months reviewing the ordinance and early last January, submitted a report to the Town Board which recommended certain changes in the ordinance. The board simply released that report to the press, never following through with any public statements and never taking any action on the recommendations.

Since the submission of that report, however, pressure has been brought to bear by Woodstock businessmen with particular reference to that portion of the ordinance pertaining to commercial advertising signs. Presumably as a result of this, Supervisor Milton Houst appointed a new review committee at a meeting of the Town Board Tuesday night. Houst named six men and one woman to the committee; said the group's function would be "to review the zoning ordinance with emphasis on the sign part of the law." Members of the Town Board present (including three Republicans and one Democrat) approved his choice of an all-Republican review committee.

Committee Listed

Named to serve were Kenneth Reynolds and Hanno D. Schrader, both of Bearsville; Richard Jeffrey, Warren Huty; Albert Cashdollar and Mrs.

Ulster Academy Honor Roll

KINGSTON

Ulster Academy, the area's independent secondary school, has announced its midwinter honor-roll listing. Receiving high honors were Eric Berger, Arthur Carr, Mary Conrad, Mark Crisman, Francesca Dordick, Aimee Gerbarg, Suzanne Lown and Craig Moss.

The honors listing includes Wayne Friedman, Roger Scholl, Lynelle Schwartz, Marnie Sprague, Holger Sternberg, Antonia Wilson, Tad Wise and Deborah Tondreau.

The school's 9th and 10th graders, accompanied by Miss Peggy Wilbur, master of classics, traveled to Princeton, N.J., March 6, to see a production of Oedipus Rex at the McCarter Theater there. The group also visited with Dr. Donald N. Wilbur, an Oriental scholar and consultant to the State Department.

Richard Gavitt, master of history, has scheduled a trip to the State Capitol at Albany on March 17 for the juniors in American History. Included was a guided tour of the Capitol, a visit to the legislative session and an invitation to the office of Assemblyman H. Clark Bell.

Need Love

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—The Vatican City newspaper l'Osservatore Romano says Catholics must love a bad bishop even more than a good one. Authority and love are two sides of a coin and are equally needed, it said in an editorial Tuesday.

Kiki Minervini, all of Woodstock village and George Ben-nyan, of Willow.

Controversy erupted over the appointments almost as soon as the names were announced. Democrats attending the meeting voiced concern that the committee was not bi-partisan in makeup. Staunch supporters of the ordinance as it now stands evinced alarm that the majority of those appointed have gone on record as opposing all or parts of the ordinance.

It was pointed out that Kenneth Reynolds is the central figure in what could become a test case on the legality of the Woodstock ordinance. Reynolds operates a gasoline service station on the art colony's main street which has been charged with violating the sign regulations. A large Esso sign placed there by Humble Oil and Refining Company is the bone of the contention and Humble Oil, through its representative, has said publicly it is willing to take its case to the Supreme Court.

Objections were raised, too, to the appointment of Hanno Schrader, an artist and former advertising man, who rose to point a new review committee. Humble Oil's defense in a recent public hearing when he said: "Signs are the difference between profit and disaster for a businessman."

The appointment of local insurance man Warren Huty also offended zoning purists, who noted that he has been one of the most prolific anti-zoning spokesmen in Woodstock. Huty has publicly announced his belief that the entire zoning ordinance "stinks" and urged that it be thrown out.

Defended Violators

Mrs. Minervini, a newspaperwoman, has defended various internally-lit signs in the township on occasion in the paper for which she works, and those who favor total retention of Woodstock's ordinance (or minor changes at the most) say she would bring a "certain prejudice" to her job since the present law now makes neon and internally-lit signs illegal.

Critics of the committee's composition also said Jeffrey, an art gallery owner, has publicly urged changes in the ordinance and is a strong advocate of display advertising cases in the village. They noted that Benneyan, a retired advertising executive who served on the first review committee, had cast a minority vote with that group in favor of internally-lit signs. And they questioned Cashdollar's appointment on the basis of "vested interest," noting he is a large land owner and recently sold what had been his private dump to the Town of Woodstock.

Conceived in controversy, the committee's job will not be an easy one. No time limit has been set for the completion of their task, but Houst said he hoped they might be able to turn in a report within 60 days.

He admitted, however, that the particular job the group has been appointed to do could well take as much as six months or more. At Tuesday's meeting, the Town Board also appointed Hanno D. Schrader to a seat on the Zoning Board of Appeals. The seat had been vacant for many weeks, following the resignation of former member Benjamin F. Klaessig. Although it was understood that the board had received many applications for this post, the town fathers chose to appoint Schrader, giving the Bearsville artist two appointments for the night since he was also named to the review committee.

Red Rockets Slam Da Nang, Kill 10 Civilians, Wound 20

SAIGON (UPI)—Communist The predawn barrage hammered into South Vietnam's second biggest city as U.S. soldiers patrolling Saigon's outskirts to the south broke up an apparent Communist plan to shell the capital. The soldiers found six big rockets on bombing of N. Vietnam Nov. 1, launchers aimed at Saigon.

Pushing the offensive into the massive Atlas Wedge counteroffensive northwest of Da Nang, the guerrillas shelled 25 U.S. and South Vietnamese military bases overnight and mounted a ground thrust south of Da Nang that carried into a U.S. Marine base mess hall.

'Red Devil' Troops Prepared For Invasion of Anguilla

ST. JOHN'S, Antigua (UPI)—Two British frigates with 210 combat-ready paratroopers carrying riot control equipment lurked off the rebel commonwealth island of Anguilla today in preparation for a possible invasion.

The two ships, Rothesay and Minerva, left this tiny Caribbean island Tuesday night carrying the "Red Devil" troops airlifted here from Britain.

British Foreign Secretary Michael Stewart said in a telephone interview from London that "for the time being we have no desire that the Anguillans should live under an administration they do not want and that we have prepared against various eventualities."

"It is our purpose to install the British administrator there," he said, because the island "as a whole has not had a chance to express their real feelings."

Archibald Selvis, a police commissioner in St. John's, said the British troops had left the island and were stationed "offshore near Anguilla," about 90 miles away.

He did not know of any orders to invade rebel Anguilla.

Tony Lee, the former British representative to Anguilla, said Tuesday the troops would move against Anguilla within 48 hours unless acting President Ronald Webster and the 6,000 residents abandon their declaration of independence.

Residents of the island appeared calm and expressed doubts the British would invade, but many also said they would fight if the troops landed on shore.

(In London, diplomatic sources said Britain was still hopeful an invasion could be avoided. They said the government was prepared to withdraw the troops if a diplomatic settlement could be reached with the islanders.)

Webster, asked Tuesday what he planned to do to meet an invasion said "We cannot say what will be the immediate response. If parachutists are dropped, we don't know what will happen."

Air Force B52 bombers carried the counteroffensive to a other helicopter arrived, the Reds' hideouts overnight, dropping more than 100 tons of them to safety.

City Students Invade Albany, Protest Appropriation Cutoff

By United Press International

"Go into your neighborhoods. Start organizing your people. We're gonna take over."

The words rang out at New York state Capitol at Albany Tuesday.

Negro and Puerto Ricans in a crowd of 10,000 New York City college and high school students cheered. Others shouted, "Stick to the issues."

The students had come from the nation's largest city to the capital to protest the cutting of $4 million from the state's $87 million appropriation to the City University of New York.

Assemblyman Stephen J. So-lar, 28, D-Brooklyn, was speaking when a militant ripped the microphone from his hands and shouted, "Go into your neighborhoods. Start organizing your people. We're gonna take over."

The students had traveled by car and at least 265 chartered buses from New York City to Albany for the protest.

At Michigan's state Capitol in Lansing Tuesday, about 100 black students from Eastern Michigan University at Ypsilanti marched to urge Gov. William G. Milliken to grant amnesty to 14 black students arrested Feb. 20 on trespass charges in another demonstration. The governor said he did not have the authority.

The arrests at Eastern Michigan came after an abortive attempt to seize the Administration Building. About 700 of the school's 17,000 students are black.

Nine teen-agers, five policemen and a teacher were injured Tuesday in a two-hour battle between Negro and white students at a junior high school at New Brunswick, N.J., site of the main campus of Rutgers University.

Forty students were suspended and two nonstudents arrested after a rally at Rio Grande (Ohio) College in support of an English professor the school did not rehire.

In Madison, Wis., a U.S. District Court judge ordered the University of Wisconsin to reinstate immediately three students suspended following a destructive protest Feb. 27.

California—Classes resumed at Pepperdine College in Los Angeles for the first time since a 15-year-old Negro was fatally shot by a campus security guard last week.

Texas—A group of students gave the president of the University of Houston a petition signed by 2,000 students, asking him to prosecute "rioters or disruptors." Several hundred Negro students caused $2,000 to $3,000 damage Monday in the cafeteria and bookstore.

Illinois—Students who had boycotted Rock Junior High School in East St. Louis for a week returned to classes Tuesday and dropped demands the school's white principal and black assistant principal be fired.

New York—About 200 black students held a one-hour rally outside the senior high school in Malverne, where many of them had been arrested Monday on criminal trespass and delinquency charges.

In Rochester, a group of Negro seminarians who barricaded themselves in the main building of the Colgate Rochester Divinity School 17 days ago said they would leave Thursday.

Michigan—Officials of Ferris State College in Big Rapids said a dozen students have been arrested in connection with a series of racial disorders and 15 other students may be expelled or suspended. The arrests were apart from the March 3 arrests of 263 students, most of them Negro, in the school's educational center.

'Free Morality'

The generation gap is showing most these days in the rules being made for mixed visitors at college dormitories, both men's and women's. Vassar, an exclusive women's college in Poughkeepsie, has gone the limit. The "modern" rules the girls adopted and the faculty accepted permits men visitors around the clock.

The girls voted to abandon the old rules of men out at 7 p. m. on study nights and 11 p. m. on weekend nights. One pair of parents sued for an injunction halting the practice, but withdrew the action when told their daughter could sleep in a corridor not frequented by men. The danger is that the practice could spread to other women's colleges, unless authorities, alumni and the parents show more gumption and put a stop to it.

Parents who love their children and know the dire penalties of "free morality" are the most concerned. Their formerly well-adjusted young are going too far. Their argument is, "with the pill, what have you got to lose?" There is a great deal more to lose—character, self-respect, mental and physical health, to name the more obvious.

Drew Pearson in his column in today's issue declares the birth control pill matter is so serious that Congressional Committees have been quietly investigating reports that at least 10 per cent of all adverse reaction reports are fatalities and that one-third of the recent reports on one specific pill involve death.

It is time for a strike of parents, donors and taxpayers. Students who are not serious about study should leave school and work or serve in the armed forces. Why should citizens be taxed to support fun-pens with the resulting suicides and drug addiction among young adults? Colleges away from home are on the way out.

Food for Seven Million

Free food stamps for all seven million Americans in families earning less than $1,000 a year is the aim of the Senate Select Committee on Nutrition and Human Needs. Senator George S. McGovern, South Dakota Democrat, the chairman, also would reduce stamp costs to the less impoverished until all the "poorest poor" have adequate food and nutrition.

The committee plans to hold hearings around the country beginning next month, to determine whether present welfare payments are high enough to keep recipients from suffering malnutrition.

McGovern has written Secretary of Agriculture Clifford M. Hardin asking that the food stamp program be extended at once to the poorest poor. He insists that the Department has enough money in its emergency food budget to start another half dozen free food stamp programs in different parts of the country, to test their effect.

While the Senator gave no estimate of the cost of his proposal for free food stamps to families earning less than $1,000 a year, a spokesman for the Department of Agriculture, which administers the food stamp program, said initial cost might reach $2.1 billion a year.

The present cutoff for a family of four in the two South Carolina counties where the free food stamp program is being tried, is $360 a year. Families earning more than that must buy food stamps at a cost geared to their income. McGovern feels no family should have to pay more than the national average of 17 per cent of their earnings for food, with or without food stamps.

There is one thing to be said for the committee's program. President Nixon's anti-poverty goal is to feed and rehabilitate the poor, not to spend the available money on fringe projects. That goal would seem to fit into this proposal to feed the poorest poor with nutritious food.

Short Cut or Dead End?

David Lawrence Says

Hiring, Firing, Promotions Pose More Labor Problems

WASHINGTON — Complaints are coming in not only to management but to labor unions about a "discrimination in reverse" that is developing in the hiring or firing or promotion of employees.

This has arisen because the federal government has assumed the power to grant or withhold contracts to companies on the basis of their record with respect to "racial discrimination" — sometimes construed as a failure by a company to employ a large enough number of Negroes. Various commissions in states and cities have been trying to encourage industrial companies to hire more Negro employees. Often this is difficult because there are not many qualified personnel available from the Negro residents in a given area.

But the biggest protests are heard in the discussions among members of labor unions who feel that a particular job or promotion was given to a Negro primarily to enhance the company's position rather than a merit. This has produced a fear among White employees that, if an economic recession occurs, employers will hesitate to lay off Negroes, as this might lead to a loss of government contracts.

In nearly all union agreements, the workers who have the most seniority are the last to be laid off. Since only in recent years have large numbers of Negroes been added in many companies, they naturally would be the first to suffer if business conditions caused lay-offs. In the automobile industry, the United Automobile Workers have asked Ford Motor Company to let the older employees voluntarily take a lay-off — which, incidentally, means retaining 95 per cent of the regular weekly pay — so that presumably the Negroes at the bottom of the list would be able to continue work. Some of the companies which are confronted with this aspect of the problem are trying to reduce their work-week and are taking other measures that will enable them to retain employees and thus make unnecessary any large number of lay-offs.

The difficulty with the racial factor in the employment problem is not confined to any one section of the country. In the last presidential election, there was a substantial defection by workers from the Democratic party, which has always had the support of a big majority of labor-union members. The commonly heard reason for the shift was that many White employees thought Wallace would protect their interests better than either Nixon or Humphrey. This was reflected in the large vote given Wallace in several Northern states.

Unfortunately, in the past many personnel managers turned away qualified Negro applicants because of their race, and the percentage of Whites in certain companies now is considered too high. The problem is not easy to solve, since racial prejudices do not disappear overnight and some White workers frankly say they do not want to work alongside persons of another color.

In businesses where "white collar" employees constitute the bulk of the personnel, it is relatively easy, of course, to set standards and specify qualifications. In other types of work, however, which require less skill and training, Negro employment would naturally grow. In some cities today White workers are scarce, as many have moved to the suburbs, and personnel directors are saying that it is hard to get qualified help of any color. Employees in the large cities are finding also that, even when they hire whatever applicants are available, efficiency isn't being attained.

Perhaps one of the most perplexing of the controversies has developed in the public-school systems, where demands are being made that more and more Negro teachers be employed. This raises the question whether the quality of education will be maintained if the faculty of a school has to be selected on the basis of race. Lawyers in many communities are struggling now with legal aspects of the problem, and school boards are puzzled as to how they should choose teachers. This "discrimination in reverse" has led also to sharp dissent from teachers' unions.

If everybody were selected on merit and without regard to color and if each school hired the best teachers available, there would be no grounds for protest. But, unhappily, confidence in the procedures of school boards is weakened when they are pressured to appoint certain percentages of White or Negro teachers, regardless of individual proficiency.

One of the scenes depicted Mr. Wister in Canada, spending a weekend in a house of prostitution. For the first and only time, I suggested that we remove a "wart" from the book. I reminded Wister that he had two growing sons who could read. "It doesn't matter whether they do or not," he snapped. "It must go into the book because it happened."

Later, I wrote a short biography of a cleric and called it "The Making of a Priest." He wanted his parishioners to call him "doctor," not father. When he read the manuscript he thought it was great because he couldn't see the "warts," having lived with them for many years. The readers saw them.

The Kennedys were sharply opposed to any of their warts going into books. Most of them saw themselves as knights and ladies searching for the Holy Grail. And yet they managed to line up such first-grade writers as Arthur Schlesinger and Ted Sorensen, men who apparently adored the Kennedys to the point of seeing few is any warts.

William Manchester was threatened with court action by Jacqueline Kennedy if he refused to trim the ugly growths she detected in certain passages. A friend of mine regretted his admiration of my work and became an overnight stranger because I had a desire to put all the warts into a book called "The Day Kennedy Was Shot." Admiral George Burley asked me bluntly why I wanted to visit the autopsy room in Bethesda Hospital.

"To write the autopsy scene properly," I said. His voice hardened: "Jim, there are some things the American public should not know." The scene, minute by minute, got into the book and I toward Lyndon Johnson — whatever others may have guessed at. Conceivably, Kennedy, uniquely possessed of that knowledge, may not have trusted himself to act on the presidency until he could justify overt movement on the basis of events outside himself. Recognizing his own emotionalisms, in other words, he may truly have been plagued by doubt as to where — with respect to LBJ — it ended and outsiders' unreal charges of "vendetta" began. If this was in truth a good part of Kennedy's dilemma as he struggled over the question whether to run or not and when to go if he did, and Witcover's researches suggest it without saying it, then the late senator is entitled, posthumously, to the compassionate understanding of critics who at the time excoriated him as cowardly and timid. Many of them, as noted, were drawn to him originally by the emotional fire they thought proved real concern for causes they espoused. But none of them had to stand in his shoes, feeling the torment of that fire, listening to charges that he was a feuder, a party-destroyer, a mere torchbearer for his slain brother John without a purpose he could call his own. The caution he applied must be judged in this light and not against some abstract standard of "bravery" fixed for some cardboard Kennedy movable at others' will. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Drew Pearson Says Birth Control Pill Causes Disturbing Side Effects

WASHINGTON—Come May, the birth control pill will have been on the market for nine years. Yet the Food and Drug Administration is unable to say how many adverse reactions the pill caused during this period or how many deaths have been associated with its use.

The matter is so serious that two Congressional committees have been quietly investigating reports that at least ten per cent of all adverse reaction reports are fatalities and that one-third of the recent reports on one specific pill involve death. But no one can say with any certainty how high the death rate really is.

This column has learned that since October 1968 there are approximately 9,000 adverse reports covering the years 1965 and 1966 which have yet to be included in the overall total. These reports are still piled high in room 602-C at the Food and Drug Administration.

Meanwhile, an estimated 7,000,000 American women are using the Pill. It works; but apparently in more ways than one.

So serious are the side effects reported by the British in April of last year that the Food and Drug Administration ordered American manufacturers to relabel, warning that English studies estimate "there is a 7- to 10-fold increase in mortality and morbidity due to thromboembolic (clotting in the blood vessels) diseases in women taking oral contraceptives." Statistical valuation indicated that the difference observed between users and nonusers were highly significant.

Furthermore, the British admitted their studies "very likely" under-reported the true situation by about 40 per cent. This under-report was despite a National Health Service spanning cradle to grave.

This column has now learned, from a medical authority in a position to know, that American studies to be published this spring "fully confirm" the British studies.

Besides death and permanent disablement, the Pill can cause a number of side effects ranging from rashes, headaches, darkening skin, hair loss, and breast enlargement, to those requiring hospitalization such as blood clots in the lungs or brain, arteriosclerosis, and cancer.

The British Tell Us

It seems incredible, therefore, that if the Pill is not safe we should have to wait till the British tell us so.

So far the Pill has led a charmed life. The first Pill, called "Enovid," was passed by FDA on the basis that 132 women had received it continuously for a year or more. Puerto Rican studies were often quoted in the lay press as establishing its safety, but those studies were directed primarily to its efficacy in preventing conception.

FDA did receive and continue to receive adverse Pill reaction reports, but FDA record-keeping is so chaotic that advisory committees claim it is impossible to make conclusive judgments. One advisory committee even asked, three years after the Pill had been on the market, that certain scientific studies be inaugurated. Such studies are ordinarily done before the drug is marketed, not afterward. It is these studies, to be released in the spring, which "fully confirm" the British report.

FDA has now acknowledged to interested Congressmen that between January 1966 to Dec. 1, 1968, it had found reports of 1,023 "serious and fatal" cases, of which 15 involved death and 908 were serious. Blood clots accounted for 84 of the deaths and 459 of the "serious" reactions, among which were listed cancer and hepatitis.

By no means were these a total of all adverse reactions reported, but only those FDA considered "serious and fatal," such as strokes.

An FDA spokesman emphasized "that they had only touched the tip of an iceberg" and that the FDA had no way of obtaining full reports of adverse reactions. True, the drug companies are required to report, but not the attending physician. And there is always the question as to the ultimate cause of death in the individual case.

Meanwhile, the outside evidence mounts. Deaths of American women between 20 to 44 due to clotting have increased from three to 12 per cent each year since the Pill was introduced.

CORRECTION—We were in error in recently reporting that Congressman Jim Wright of Texas helped insert an amendment in the anti-pollution bill requiring the government to prove "willful negligence" before it can collect damages for oil leakage. We now find that Rep. Bill Cramer, R-Fla., was the sole culprit. Our apologies to Rep. Wright. . . . It may be unkind to recall now, but we wonder what Illinois Congressman Paul Findley is thinking about his campaign to block wheat for Yugoslavia now that Tito has become one of the bitterest critics of Moscow. Findley, a Republican from Pittsfield, Ill., was a diehard opponent of sending surplus American wheat to Yugoslavia and most of his Republican colleagues went along with him. We wonder also what another Republican Congressman, now occupying the White House, thinks about his own votes against wheat for Yugoslavia. . . . Tito has been more critical of Moscow than even Congressmen Findley and Nixon. . . . Harry Truman, who never loved this column, deserves credit for pioneering a policy or aid to Yugoslavia despite the fact that he was called pro-communist by his Republican critics.

DON'T LET MY SIZE FOOL YOU, FELLA, I PACK A REAL WALLOP!

Jim Bishop: Reporter

Along literary row there is an expression called "warts and all." It refers to the inclusion of disgusting and evil events written into non-fiction books. I am, I must tell you at once, a "warts and all" man. Writers who pre-empt their books by eliminating unpalatable scenes are their own censors.

When I wrote the biography of William Wynne Wister, 25 years ago, it was to be the biography of an alcoholic and, without the "warts," it would have defeated its purpose, which was to show millions of men and women who limp on a "Glass Crutch" how one man was drunk for 19 years and managed to find a way out.

One of the scenes depicted Mr. Wister in Canada, spending a weekend in a house of prostitution. For the first and only time, I suggested that we remove a "wart" from the book. I reminded Wister that he had two growing sons who could read. "It doesn't matter whether they do or not," he snapped. "It must go into the book because it happened."

Later, I wrote a short biography of a cleric and called it "The Making of a Priest." He wanted his parishioners to call him "doctor," not father. When he read the manuscript he thought it was great because he couldn't see the "warts," having lived with them for many years. The readers saw them.

The Kennedys were sharply opposed to any of their warts going into books. Most of them saw themselves as knights and ladies searching for the Holy Grail. And yet they managed to line up such first-grade writers as Arthur Schlesinger and Ted Sorensen, men who apparently adored the Kennedys to the point of seeing few is any warts.

William Manchester was threatened with court action by Jacqueline Kennedy if he refused to trim the ugly growths she detected in certain passages. A friend of mine regretted his admiration of my work and became an overnight stranger because I had a desire to put all the warts into a book called "The Day Kennedy Was Shot." Admiral George Burley asked me bluntly why I wanted to visit the autopsy room in Bethesda Hospital.

"To write the autopsy scene properly," I said. His voice hardened: "Jim, there are some things the American public should not know." The scene, minute by minute, got into the book and I lost a friend. The reason I like A. E. Hotchner's biography of Ernest Hemingway is that he wrote the decline and fall of a giant. Mary Hemingway sued to stop publication, but the law permitted it to be published and it became a best seller because of the wart scenes.

Years ago I researched and wrote a biography of Jackie Gleason called "The Golden Ham." He didn't like the warts in the book and we barely nodded to each other for a long time. Toots Shor wept tears of resentment when I wrote "The Mark Hellinger Story." When he read the errors and indiscretions in the manuscript he said bitterly: "I thought you loved the guy."

Some writers specialize in emphasizing "warts." Lyndon Johnson became a good target for the "innuendo" writers. So was Robert Kennedy, but, in this case, the market for vilification collapsed when he was assassinated. The new books canonize him—a form of bias as evil as the opposite extreme. And just as nauseating.

I have written 17 books and I maintain that a good literary portrait must include the warts. A biography of Francis Cardinal Spellman never got off the ground because the priest who wrote it was conscious that Spellman was a Prince of the Church and could not be guilty of any wrong.

The fiction writers have discovered that their novels sell well if they sling a lot of dirty sex into the manuscript. Not clean sex, my friends. Not romantic sex. But violent shocking filth. If it is true that women buy more books than men (four to one) then it must be equally true that they enjoy filth because that's what they purchase.

The standard of literary excellence declines in perfect ratio with the decline of taste among the readers. It started around the time that Mickey Spillane wrote "I, The Jury." It was sex and sadism. Though it did not sell well in hard-cover form, New American Library sold the same book by the millions in soft cover.

Since then, sex and violence have become the most profitable commodities for books, magazines and television. It sells like gangbusters. Today, the warts obscure the faces. A proper perspective requires a sense of balance, judgment, and let's face it—playing God on a typewriter . . .

Editor, The Freeman:
Marbletown Hearing

I read with interest Mr. Shane Crosby's interpretation of the Marbletown hearing on Friday — especially after the headline, Marbletown Hearing: Turmoil. I began to wonder if it was the same meeting I myself attended.

Mr. Crosby's reference to a meeting in turmoil leads me to believe he has not attended one that was for comparison sake, and suggest that he go to some in which no person is allowed to speak due to the booring, cat-calls and general disruptive outbursts of the people assembled. I commend the people and Zoning Board of Marbletown for their restraint on Friday night — emotions displayed by both were at a minimum.

I would like to further point out that Mr. DiDonna was given considerably more time on Friday night than I think he should have been allowed, in view of the fact that he represented only 70 residents of Marbletown who supposedly are of only one mind. I failed to see where he directly or indirectly expressed the desires of that group and I know that many of us would have liked to hear his plan. After reading Mr. Crosby's report, one wonders what happened to the report of what other people said at the meeting, most of it far more pertinent to our town than what Mr. DiDonna read and said.

I suggest in the future if Mr. Crosby wishes to report on any meeting he give it broader scope — less interpretation and include all that goes on. His column was a report on only one segment of that meeting and it sounds like a fan letter for the favorite son.

Aid to Education

Editor, The Freeman

As a student at the State University College at Cortland and a resident of Kingston, I wish to call to your attention some distressing financial facts concerning education.

I refer to two bills which will soon come before the State Legislature. These bills propose to cut the budget of the State University of New York by 9.2 per cent. This means that the staff of our colleges may be decreased and that some departments may be greatly lacking in financial resources. Also, we expect that facilities such as libraries will be functioning on very limited budgets and schedules.

It is also proposed that tuition at the State Colleges in New York be increased. Currently we are paying $400 annually for tuition. If these bills are passed tuition will be raised to $700 per year. Many students simply cannot afford this increase. We, the students, are not able to prevent passage of these bills without your assistance. I sincerely hope that the Kingston Daily Freeman and the people of Kingston will take a firm stand on this issue. Please help us by writing letters to your state legislators urging them to prevent passage of these bills.

Thank You,

Zoning in Marbletown

Now is the time for the residents of Marbletown to come to their own aid. Those of us, who have sat silent, thinking to ourselves, how lucky we are to have people in this town that have enough foresight to attempt to get a zoning law into effect before growth really hits this area, should now, before it is too late, let them know that we stand firmly behind them. Zoning protects a community, while lack of zoning destroys a town. Zoning is like building a house from blueprints. Lack of zoning is like building a house on the spur of the moment. Zoning is a plan for a town. We plan our marriage; we try to plan our children; our lives work; our vacations; our home — why NOT a plan for our town? Take the time to write a member of the zoning planning board. If you don't know who he is write Roy Weber. Let them know you are for zoning, before it's too late.

Thank you,

Business Streets

Editor, The Freeman

Following is a copy of a letter forwarded to Charles J. Cole, superintendent, Board of Public Works, 408 Broadway, Kingston:

Dear Charlie:
Once again I call your attention to the filthy conditions of the Uptown business streets.

Despite the number of times I have talked to you by telephone and written you, I've never seen Green Street near North Front Street, North Front Street as a whole, and Wall Street as filthy as they are today.

I can only assume that you neither inspect these areas yourself nor that you care anything about the conditions from the standpoint of cleanliness, sightliness, or good community appearance.

Very truly yours,
Harry M. Thayer

Withdrawal From Vietnam
RD 2, Box 3A
Kingston, N. Y.
March 12, 1969

Editor, The Freeman:

For some time many Americans have called for a withdrawal from Vietnam as the way to end the fighting there. Does anyone now question the wisdom of this action? Even The Freeman editorial of March 12 proposed the solution of a "pull out."

In its editorial The Freeman blames the North Vietnamese and the National Liberation Front for "turning the Paris peace table into an obstacle course" and "yet another winter offensive". However, Drew Pearson, in his column of the same date, quotes former ambassador and negotiator Averill Harriman as describing the actions of the National Liberation Front as "essentially a response to our actions rather than a deliberate, reckless attempt to dictate the peace terms or torpedo the talks." Even The Freeman must admit that "we have . . . escalated ground action in South Vietnam."

Drew Pearson says that "President Nixon has held up private talks with the North Vietnamese which had been agreed to two months ago". A news story on page forty from the Associated Press confirms this report.

I find your call for a "national referendum" to be a novel and radical course of action; I thought that the election of 1964 showed that we wanted a peace president.

I believe that a withdrawal of our troops from Vietnam would bring about the "honorable peace" pledged to by President Nixon.

Sincerely,
RONALD SOBIERAJ

Strict Neutrality for U. S. in Red Rift

By LEON DENNEN

(NEA Foreign News Analyst)

UNITED NATIONS, N. Y. (NEA) — The Nixon administration has to move cautiously in the escalating conflict between Russia and Red China.

There is no reason, of course, why American diplomacy should not take advantage of the rift in the Communist ranks and play the "Chinese card" in negotiations with Moscow about peace in Vietnam and the Middle East.

But it is obviously in the interest of the United States to watch the Moscow-Peking quarrel from a position of strict neutrality.

According to East European diplomats, Russia and China are on the brink of a formal diplomatic breach Moscow has made, it clear there is no "return to normalcy."

With the approach of the international conference of Communists — scheduled to meet in Moscow in May — hawks in Russia's ruling Politburo, headed by party chief Leonid Brezhnev, are stepping up their campaign to isolate Mao Tse-tung and expel Peking from the world Communist movement.

This seems to explain why the unusually secretive Russians suddenly decided to disclose details of Chinese "atrocities" in the latest armed clash on the Ussuri River not far from the Soviet naval base at Vladivostok.

Since 1962, there have been scores of border incidents along frontier. Several high ranking officers of Moscow's secret police, including Lt. Gen. Alexander Perepelytsin and Maj. Gen. V. Lukshin, are known to have been killed by Peking's security guards.

However, before the Red army's invasion of Czechoslovakia and the victory of the hard-line Stalinists in the Politburo, it was Moscow's policy to minimize border incidents, now it is in Brezhnev's interest to depict Peking's leaders as "irrational" adventurers who are determined to establish a fascist type "military regime."

Moscow's Pravda said in an editorial, the "Mao Tse-tung clique" can no longer be regarded as Communists.

It is hardly a coincidence that the editorial, which was printed several weeks before the outbreak on the Ussuri River, set the tone for the Kremlin's campaign against the Chinese. It was Brezhnev's way of warning non-Russian Communists, "if you side with Mao, you're the enemy of Russia."

The Red conclave in Moscow will clearly be a great dividing line for the world Communist movement. The Russians are determined to "excommunicate" the Chinese.

But a number of non-Russian Communist parties — even among those that finally agreed to attend the Moscow conference — still find it hard to swallow the Kremlin's line on China. The important Italian Communist party will neither condemn Mao nor interfere in China's internal affairs.

Hence Russia's unprecedented violent attacks on Mao attempt to make it appear that the break between Moscow and Peking is an accomplished fact. It also lends Russia moral justification for applying the "Brezhnev doctrine" to China. According to the doctrine, first tested in Czechoslovakia, the Russians may use armed force in any "fraternal socialist country" where Communist supremacy is threatened.

Now that Mao is no longer regarded as a Communist, Khrushchev, the newspaper of the Soviet Defense Ministry, even boasts that Russian rocket forces had been in a "high state of preparedness" on the Chinese border for several years.

No one can predict how soon the Russians will commit another act of aggression in order to save communism in China. A war between the two Red giants may not be imminent but, in the view of most specialists on communism, it is inevitable.

President Nixon will thus have to weigh carefully the advantages and disadvantages to the United States of an early summit conference with Russia. (Newspaper Enterprise Assn.)

Pope Going to Uganda, a Papal First

VATICAN CITY (UPI)—Pope Paul VI will fly to Kampala, Uganda, in July for the first visit by any pontiff to Africa, the Vatican said today. The Pope said it would be a "quick" trip, apparently to dedicate a new cathedral at Kampala, which commemorates 22 African martyrs made saints in 1965. A trip by the Pope to Africa would be his seventh journey abroad since his election in 1963. In Nairobi, President Jomo Kenyatta immediately issued an invitation to the pontiff to visit Kenya during his trip. Pope Paul, 71, announced his plans at the end of a Mass he celebrated in St. Peter's Basilica for thousands of pilgrims. He said he would meet with African bishops in session at the time.

Apple Day Slated Again in Washington

HUDSON Apple day in Washington, D. C. will be observed again this year on March 25, according to Congressman Hamilton Fish Jr. (R-28).

Highlighting apple day will be a luncheon in the capitol attended by leading fruit growers in the Hudson Valley and top Nixon administration officials, including agriculture and labor department officials, ranking congressmen on the House of Representatives Agriculture Committee and the committees on labor and education.

Six From Area Among Winners In State Lottery

ALBANY Five Ulster County lottery ticket holders and one from Rhinebeck are among the winners in the March drawing of the state lottery held Tuesday at the State Office Campus.

They include: Wilson and Harriet Sheeley, RD 2 Accord; Eva and Tony Carpinelli, RD 4; Arthur Lane, Saugerties; George Vanos, 72 West O'Reilly Street, Kingston; John H. Bonce, 186 Harwich Street, Kingston, and Mary L. Keating, 43 Brewster Street, Kingston. In Rhinebeck the ticket holder is the Patrick J. DeFile family, Mill Road.

Post positions are being drawn in Albany today and the final drawing will be Thursday in New York City.

"I am delighted that the members of my agricultural task force wish to continue the annual apple day in Washington to promote the important fruit industry," Rep. Fish said.

A committee of fruit growers from the Hudson Valley area has been set up to formulate plans for the event. Co-chairmen are Charles Andola, well-known Ulster County fruit grower and representative of the Mid-Hudson Growers Co-op; Ashton Hart, representative of the Mid-Ulster Growers Co-op; and Walter Schreiber, representative of the Dutchess County Area Co-op. Assistance is also being given by Benjamin Bartolotta and agriculture agent M. Edgar Buckley, both of Columbia County.

"These men have been extremely helpful in apple day plans," the congressman said.

The delegation will meet in Congressman Fish's office at 10:30 a.m., Tuesday, March 25. Boxes of apples will have been delivered to the nation's capitol, compliments of the Hudson Valley growers. Congressman Fish is arranging that apples be on all tables at the House of Representatives dining rooms, and complimentary boxes for the President, Vice-President, and the Secretaries of Labor and Agriculture.

Miss Susan Bennett, 1969 harvest queen, will be in Washington for the occasion to greet members of Congress. She will explain an apple exhibit showing all the varieties grown in the Hudson Valley.

Congressman Fish said that he is looking forward to this event.

NEW IR CHIEF — President Richard Nixon named Atlanta attorney Randolph W. Thrower as Commissioner of the Internal Revenue Department. The 55-year-old Thrower has been in law practice in Atlanta since 1936 except during World War II when he served as an FBI agent and later in the Marine Corps. Thrower was nominated to the position formerly held by Sheldon Cohen. (UPI TELEPHOTO)

Police Probe Uptown Break-in

KINGSTON City police today were investigating a break-in reported late Tuesday night at adjoining offices at 23-27 John Street, where police said entry was gained through an unlocked rear door and window.

Taken from the offices of Dr. William Askue were two pieces of medical equipment. A check, which police said would be difficult to cash, was taken from the real estate offices of Walter Caunitz in the building.

Police said the break-in occurred between 5 and 9 p. m. and the report was received at headquarters at 10:15 p. m. by the building's landlord.

ministration, comprised the Republican's campaign effort.

A major question of the campaign, that of the incorporated status of Rosendale, was not part of the ballot, due to a last minute withdrawal of a proposition by Reid. It would have asked voters to give a "yes" or "no" on whether to hold a special vote to disband the village and pave the way for a joint town body comprising the town and village.

Curran felt the proposition was being used to cover "the real issue, reckless spending," Reid, on the other hand, favored a "yes" vote on the village status question, saying it would result in "major savings" for both bodies by eliminating duplications.

Curran, who also serves as attorney for the town, was Justice of the Peace for the Town from 1958 to 1962. He had served as special counsel for the town flood control committee and has a law office in the village.

The 38-year-old mayor elect is a graduate of Fordham University and obtained a law degree from St. John's University in 1956. He was admitted to practice in 1956 before all courts of the state of New York, and was subsequently admitted to practice in the U.S. District Courts for the Southern and Eastern Districts of New York.

LONDON (AP) — The government has disclosed that secret telephone exchanges were built in the 1950s in Manchester, London, Birmingham and Glasgow. The exchanges, kept secret for defense purposes, are located underground and have living accommodations for staff members, with emergency food supplies.

The dance committee which finalizing plans for the event also includes Mrs. Lucy Freer and further details will be announced. Miss Isabel McHugh, is in charge.

Student Reclaims Packet, Arrested on Drug Charge

MALDEN A college student on his way to Albany to take part in a student protest was arrested by State Police on the Thruway here Tuesday after he attempted to reclaim a lost packet that they said contained a quantity of marijuana.

Troopers arrested Milton Branch, 23, of Brooklyn, about 2:30 p. m. Tuesday when they said he asked rest stop attendants here for the packet left earlier in the Hot Shoppe.

A student at City College of New York, Branch was said to be on his way to Albany to take part in a mass student protest. Attendants at the Hot Shoppe spotted the packet and called troopers, who were on hand when the student returned to claim it. Troopers John Ryan of the Kingston station made the arrest.

Branch was committed to the Ulster County jail in lieu of $5,000 bail to await a hearing before Town of Ulster Justice Arthur A. Reilly at a later date.

Rondout Board Changes Date Of Meeting

ACCORD A one month postponement of the annual meeting of the Rondout Valley Central Schools Board of Education was announced here Tuesday. The postponement was made to give the board extra time to consider possible changes in next year's school budget as a result of employee negotiations and possible changes in the state aid formula.

Superintendent Dr. Ted T. Grenda said the board changed the date from May 6 to June 10 to "give us a better budget plan" that would reflect salary changes being ironed out in current negotiations with teachers and staff of the system. The date change would also give the board time to consider possible cuts in the state aid formula that had been requested by Gov. Rockefeller.

Dr. Grenda also disclosed that four specially informational meetings on the new budget have been scheduled. They are set for the elementary schools at Kerhonkson, June 2; Accord, June 3; Marlborough, June 4; and Rosendale, June 5, all at 7:30 p. m.

Registration for voting on the budget, planned for June 11, may be made at any of the district elementary school days between 9 a. m. and 3 p. m. The last day for registration will be on June 5. A system of permanent personal registration is followed in the district and Grenda noted that anyone who was able to vote last year would be still eligible.

Special registration periods were also announced. All held in the elementary schools, special periods are: May 24, 9 a. m. to noon and May 26, 27 and June 4 from 7 to 9 p. m.

OK for Vassar On Admission For the Men

Poughkeepsie, N. Y., (UPI) — Vassar College has received permission to amend its charter to admit men, and that will be done in time for the fall term this year.

Vassar President Alan Simpson said Tuesday he had received permission from the state Board of Regents to amend the 1861 charter and break the women's monopoly on the liberal arts college.

Meanwhile, Colgate University will join with Skidmore College in a student exchange program beginning in September. Spokesmen for the two schools said Tuesday a number of Colgate men will study at Skidmore's Saratoga Springs campus, while an equal number of women will spend a semester at Colgate.

In 1970, Colgate will go fully co-educational, according to plans finalized earlier this year.

Praised by Commanding Officer

Schatzel in Vital Viet Program

Marine Lance Corporal Edwin J. Schatzel Jr., son of Mr. and Mrs. Edwin J. Schatzel Sr. of 22 Harwich Street, is a member of the 4th Combined Action Group in Vietnam.

Recently, Mr. and Mrs. Schatzel received a letter from Lt. Col. John E. Greenwood, their son's commanding officer, on the group's purpose and activities in Vietnam.

The letter is as follows:

"I am writing to inform you that your son is now a member of the Combined Action Program here in Vietnam. He joined the 4th Combined Action Group on 26 January 1969.

"The Combined Action Program is one of the most interesting activities performed by Americans in Vietnam. Its purpose basically is to train the Vietnamese to provide for their own local security and defense. It looks ahead to the day when the Vietnamese will be able to stand alone with far less outside help than they presently require.

"Throughout Vietnam local defense is entrusted to the Vietnamese Popular Force soldiers. The Popular Force soldier, or 'PF' as he is called, is a part time military man much like a militiaman or a home defense guard. His primary function is to provide security for his own local hamlet or village area. He represents governmental authority; maintains law and order; prevents communist agents, or tax collectors or raiding parties from entering his area. Unfortunately, he is not always well trained or well equipped and all too often it is difficult for him to accomplish the jobs assigned. It is this fact that gave birth to the Combined Action idea. By combining Marines with the PF, by having them live and work together, we believe we can vastly improve the local defense structure throughout Vietnam. We believe we can mend the fabric of security which has been torn apart by years of terrorism, assassinations, and war.

"The combining of Marines and Vietnamese forces works like this. A Marine squad of fourteen men — a squad leader, a grenadier, and three four-man fire teams — and a Navy corpsman join with the 35 man PF platoon to form a Combined Action Platoon 'CAP'. The Marine element of the CAP strives to instill pride, patriotism, and aggressiveness in the PF. The Marines are teachers as well as doers, and they strive to make their Vietnamese counterparts the finest local defense force in the world. It is hard work. Sometimes it is frustrating and progress is slow; at other times it can be vastly rewarding. Sometimes living conditions are poor; sometimes it can be a little dangerous. But the work cuts through to the heart of the war; it is a job that is abundantly worthwhile.

PROMOTED — Air Force Brigadier General Bill Gernert, (R) is assisted by Army Major Earl Hain, in pinning the insignia of first lieutenant on Army officer Robert H. Courtney in promotion ceremonies at Sandia Base, Albuquerque, N. M. First Lieutenant Courtney has been stationed at this joint service installation since July 1968 and is assigned duty as a nuclear weapons instructor in the Nuclear Training Directorate. He is the son of Mr. and Mrs. R. H. Courtney, River Road, Ulster Park, and a 1963 graduate of Kingston High School. He holds a B.S. degree in physics from Rensselaer Polytechnic Institute where he was commissioned in February 1968. After completing the Army Officer Basic Course at Aberdeen Proving Grounds, Md., he was transferred to Sandia Base to complete the Army Nuclear Weapons Officer Course before taking his present job.

Council's Conservation Committee Airs Short and Long-Range Projects

HIGHLAND The first meeting of the newly formed Rip Van Winkle Council Conservation Committee held recently at the home of Ted Brooks, Committee Chairman of Highland. Both short and long range conservation projects were discussed.

These include the planting of 9,000 spruce, red pine and larch seedlings, building 2 Marsh two years. Chairman Ted Brooks said the committee hopes that eventually all the districts in the Council will become involved in the above program. All advancement ranks in Scouting from second Class to Eagle Scout have a requirement related to Conservation. It was decided to set up a Conservation Projects Training Day for scout leaders and committeemen at Tri-Mount Scout Reservation on Saturday, April 26, to acquaint adult leaders in the various phases of the program.

Those attending will then be better able to instruct their Scouts in accomplishing many of the above projects during weekend campouts. With this knowledge they can also assist the boys in advancement, increase their knowledge of Conservation, aid wildlife and help improve their Scout Camp. The Minnewaska Trail District plans a Conservation program on the weekend of May 24 for the purpose of planting 6000 trees and other related projects. The Committee is working in cooperation with the New York State Conservation Department, Division of Lands and Forests, Division of Soil and Game, and the U.S. Soil Conservation Service.

Committee members are Ted Brooks, chairman; Project Directors Jim Feth and Norman Wilson of Stone Ridge, employees of I.B.M., Kingston; Nature Trails Director and Advisor Dr. and Publicity Director District professor at New Paltz State University College; Advisor and Projects Director Professor Richard McBride. New Paltz has been involved in a number of State University College; Advise these projects for the past

Daily Freeman and Secretary and Publicity Director District Scout Executive John Helmer of the Rip Van Winkle Council, B.S.A.

This Committee is a Sub-Committee of the Rip Van Winkle Council Camping Activities Committee of which Henry Eighmey of the Kingston Daily Freeman is chairman.

Brandt Favors Treaty

BONN (UPI)—West German Foreign Minister Willy Brandt said Tuesday he hoped his country signs the nuclear nonproliferation treaty before the Sept. 28 federal elections. The proposed pact has met stiff opposition from German politicians who fear it would hinder nuclear research.

NEW YORK (AP) — Striking ground employees of American Airlines vote today on a tentative contract settlement in 49 cities as the line readies equipment in hopes of resuming flight operations at 8 a.m. Thursday.

Members of the striking AFL-CIO Transport Workers Union voted Tuesday in three cities and the returns were heavily in favor of accepting the new pact, the union said.

But a spokesman cautioned that the vote did not necessarily represent national sentiment. Locals in Buffalo and Rochester, N.Y., favored the pact by margins that offset a negative vote in Syracuse, N.Y., the unions said.

The strike by 12,700 TWU members has grounded American for 20 days. The line serves 32 U.S. cities and normally carries about 50,000 passengers daily.

Terms of the proposed pact were not disclosed but the union had sought a 30 per cent pay hike in a two-year contract. The strikers had been earning hourly pay ranging from $3.8 for cleaners to $4.16 for mechanics.

Sirhan Celebrates 25th Holding Attorney's Hand

LOS ANGELES (UPI)—Sirhan B. Sirhan turned 25 today. In court Tuesday he held his attorney's hand while a psychologist testified he was a mother-oriented boy.

The young man on trial for killing Sen. Robert F. Kennedy has reached the point where a jury must decide whether he had the mental capability to premeditate and carry out murder.

Sirhan sits quietly in court while defense psychologists describe in professional terms how he is different from other people and subject to fragmentation of his paranoid personality that could have led to action without thought of what he was doing.

Dr. Roderick Richardson, a clinical psychologist, described Sirhan this way:

In conversation and language a bright, normal-to-superior intelligence. Vulnerable to an ego state where he wants to be thought of in terms of famous people. A man who feels morally justified by socially unacceptable acts.

Russell M. Parsons, one of the defense team, said he held Sirhan's hand during the testimony.

Dr. Richardson was to continue his analysis of Sirhan today.

His testimony plus that of Dr. Martin Schorr and three defense psychiatric witnesses to follow will be aimed at saving Sirhan from the California gas chamber.

Schorr came under embarrassing cross-examination. He conceded he had lifted passages from a New York psychologist's Book-of-the-Month selection to describe Sirhan as a boy disappointed by his mother's rejection.

Richardson described Sirhan as a young man who "needed mothering." He said he felt himself "weak, cowardly and unmasculine" and that the killing of Kennedy made him a man.

American Field Service Outlined for Rotarians

WOODSTOCK try and people that he is visiting, as well."

The contrast between academic life in the Philippines and the United States was outlined to members of the Woodstock Rotary recently by Efrén Sotto of Manila, who is an American Field Service student at Oteora Central High School.

With the aid of maps and slides, Sotto described life in the Philippines today, with particular reference to the growth of industry and trade since the Philippines gained their independence from the United States shortly after World War II.

Most of the questions directed to Sotto after his formal presentation dealt with his reactions to life in Woodstock and at the Oteora school.

The young student was highly complimentary to Oteora in a comparison of school life here in the Philippines. In his view, there was a much more relaxed atmosphere in the American school system which enables the student to gain much more from the curriculum.

Sotto seemed particularly pleased that in Oteora there was an awareness on the part of the student body of problems that went beyond the mere ABCs of education. He noted an interest on the part of the students in the lives of their fellowmen and a desire to use their education to make a contribution to society.

Asked if he felt the educational stint in the United States was worthwhile, Sotto replied affirmatively.

"This is a once in a lifetime experience," said the young student. "There is nothing greater than being given a chance to live and study in a foreign country, especially when you are in your teenage years."

"This is the time of our life when we are most adaptable to our environment," he added. "This is the reason why this program is so beneficial not only for the student but for the coun-

Local Jaycees Will Protest School Aid Cut

WOODSTOCK To show their continuing interest in the Oteora School District, the Woodstock Jaycees voted to send a letter to Governor Rockefeller to protest his proposed five per cent cut in the school budget.

This action took place at a recent meeting. Governmental affairs director, Richard Vanderhoff, explained the facts and figures involved if the five per cent cut is carried out. He stated that the cut would result in a $39,000 deficit this year and $67,000 next year. Also figures showed that the proposed cuts in transportation would amount to over $100,000 in the Oteora School District.

Also connected with governmental affairs was President Ralph Perry's announcement that the Woodstock Jaycees have been judged number one in the State of New York in that category. Ralph explained that participation in school board budget voting, town zoning, and town board meetings all contributed to the winning effort.

The program for the evening was conducted by Daniel Leahy, executive director of the Association for Retarded Children. The Jaycees promptly voted to support the Association for Retarded Children by holding an Easter egg hunt for them in the spring. This activity was one that was suggested by Leahy.

Other business for the evening included announcement of a leadership training program by Chairman Raymond Lauterbach in April.

Know Your Town Workshop Held By Local LWV

WOODSTOCK Know Your Town was the topic at a Practical Politics Workshop last week by the League of Women Voters of Woodstock.

Answering questions and giving descriptions of town government were Milton Houst, supervisor, Town of Woodstock, and Robert Schneller, supervisor, Town of Hurley.

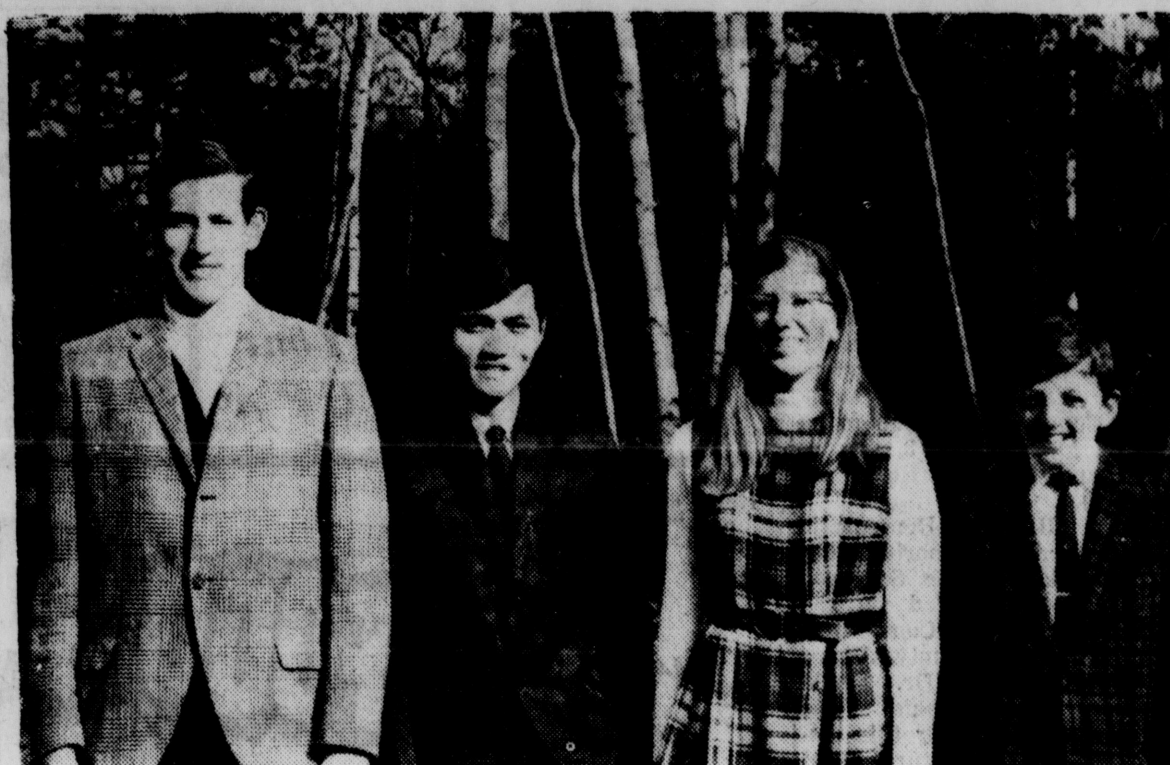

The workshop, designed for new members and prospective members of the League, tried to introduce the audience to the elements of town government. Discussed were the Town Board's powers and responsibilities, the supervisor's duties, committees, boards and commissions, zoning, the town budget, assessments, taxes, purchasing, and nomination of local candidates.

The workshop was held at the home of Mrs. W. Jack Kahn. Mrs. Kahn, voters service chairman, presided.

The League is a non-partisan organization whose major service is to provide the public with factual background information on government and politics. Future workshops will be planned.

Dems Schedule Open Meeting On Assessing

WOODSTOCK Donnaruma, followed by a question and answer period.

Woodstock Democratic Club sponsored the first of its 1969 meetings Jan. 23 meant for the interest and information of the local public, without regard to party. That open public meeting was a forum at which seven well informed local men spoke briefly on Woodstock's zoning and sign ordinance and then answered and discussed questions posed by members of the capacity audience.

Thursday 8 p.m. at Deanie's the Club will sponsor its second 1969 open meeting — this time discussing real estate tax assessments. The format will 1969-70 year will be entertained, be a single speech on the subject. Also, future programs will be subject, to be given by Walter discussed.

Special School Busing Request Deadline Apr. 1.

WOODSTOCK Parents residing in the Ontario Central School District desiring special transportation for a child to attend a non-public school outside of the Ontario Central School District during the 1969-70 school year must file a written request for such service with the Board of Education on or before April 1.

Each request must contain the pupil's name, address, grade and school presently attending, and the name and address of the school to be attended during 1969-70.

Requests should be addressed to Watson Goodrich, assistant to superintendent, Ontario Central Schools, Boiceville, 12412. Transportation provided by the Ontario Central School District is authorized only for those students residing within 10 miles of the school that they plan to attend. No transportation outside of the district may be provided beyond the 10 mile limit.

This procedure is in accordance with Section 3635 of the New York State Education Law and is required so that the Board of Education may budget the required funds to cover the costs of this service.

Democrats to Caucus Tonight

The Sorenson Report will be a topic of discussion at the Woodstock Democratic Caucus tonight at 8 o'clock in the Woodstock Town Hall.

The purpose of the caucus is to select a candidate for the office of County Legislator and to elect delegates to the Democratic County Convention to be held on March 26 at 8 p.m. at the County Court House in Kingston.

John Bonilla, Democratic town chairman, reported that the discussion of the Sorenson Report would be led by the Democratic State Committee-men from Ulster County, James T. McCord and Dr. Freda Martens. He also said, "The use of the caucus for this discussion is a departure from tradition. But so is the Sorenson Report, and I feel this party would benefit from more departures from tradition."

Bonilla refused to speculate on who the Democratic candidate for County Legislator would be, or whether he was considering entering the race again himself. "The Town Committee will certainly come into the caucus with a recommendation, but it is the caucus that will nominate a candidate," Bonilla said.

The delegates to be elected, three from each election district, will participate in the County Convention the following Wednesday night. Their function will be to select candidates for county clerk and coroner.

Bennett School Project Fair Slated March 20

Thursday 7:30 p.m., there will be a School Project Fair, at the Reginald R. Bennett Elementary School, Boiceville.

Projects and displays in science, math, English and social studies will be displayed in the all-purpose room at the school. All are cordially invited to come and bring the entire family.

There will also be a Book Fair sponsored by the Bennett P.T.A. The Book Fair will run three consecutive days, March 19, 20 and 21. The hours are from 9 a.m. to 3:30 p.m. on Wednesday and Thursday, 7:30 p.m. Thursday evening and 9 a.m. until 12 noon on Friday.

The Jenkins Memorial Award will be presented on Thursday evening. This award is given to a member of the community who has done outstanding work in behalf of youth. The Jenkins Memorial Committee Chairman is Mrs. Alfred Moses. She is being assisted by Mrs. James Donlon, Mrs. Donald Lattoff, Mrs. Edward Hearn, Mrs. Bradford Kelder, Ronald Vanni and Mrs. Pat Dodge.

SAUGERTIES NEWS

Teachers Group Asks Support of School Bill

SAUGERTIES Teachers Association, through its president, James Luther, gave expression to its support of the legislative program of the Educational Conference Board now under consideration by the New York State Legislature.

Centerville Vols Auxiliary Names Officers for '69

SAUGERTIES Mrs. Helen Walbroehl was elected president of Centerville Fire Company Auxiliary at a recent meeting held in Centerville Fire Hall.

Others named were Mrs. Joan Whitaker, first vice-president; Mrs. Nancy Mower, second vice-president; Mrs. Evelyn Sherwood, secretary; Mrs. Margaret Marburger, acting treasurer. Trustees named included Mrs. Martha Scheider, Mrs. Patricia Ricks, and Mrs. Madelyn Snyder.

The annual banquet will be held Tuesday, March 25 at the Flamingo Restaurant at 6 p.m. Roast beef or turkey will be served. Reservations may be made by calling Mrs. Gwendolyn Myer or Mrs. Gladys Myer. Deadline for reservations is March 20 and dues must be paid before the banquet.

A barter sale was held at the end of the meeting. Refreshments were served by Mrs. Ethel Jehle and Mrs. Emily Staudegal.

teacher and as a resident of the district, Luther has this week pointed out that adoption of this legislative program for an average school district could mean a saving of $3.63 on the full tax rate per thousand and much more than that on the assessed value tax rate.

Luther suggested that education today has many goals among which we find education for the space age, maximum education and employment skills, lower school dropout rate, and special pupil needs such as improved reading skills. These goals can be achieved only through an updated curriculum and improved instructional materials.

During the past ten years personal income in New York State has increased faster than the value of taxable real property. In this period personal income has gone up 64 per cent to an increase of only five per cent in taxable real property at full value. Again during the same period public spending increased less rapidly than overall state spending so that for every $1 increase in school expenditures the cost of state government has gone up $1.14. Obviously, the proportion of the New York State budget devoted to public school support has actually decreased during this period.

The per capita income in New York State ranks second only to Connecticut. "That being the case," Luther asked, "why does New York rank 23rd among the 50 states in the percentage of its budget allocated to education?" In spite of these irrefutable facts and statistics the local home owner is being asked by the governor to shoulder an even more disproportionate

Students Hear Presentation on Indian Culture

SAUGERTIES The Afro-Asian Studies classes of Edward J. Ehrmann last Friday heard a most interesting and informative discussion on India by Dru Pandya.

Pandya was born and educated in India before coming to the United States to continue his career in engineering. He has obtained advanced engineering degrees from the State University of Iowa and is currently studying at New York University while employed by IBM, Kingston.

Pandya presented slides which he had taken during a recent trip to India to illustrate his discussion of Indian architecture, customs and traditions.

DAR Good Citizen Award Given to Mary P. Bean

SAUGERTIES Saugerties Chapter Daughters of the American Revolution each year present to a senior girl voted upon by her fellow student and teachers "The DAR Good Citizens Award." This year the award was won by Mary Patricia Bean, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Raymond Bean, Stevens Court.

The DAR endeavors to stimulate the youth of America to value character building as a basis of good citizenship. For this reason they present their

Good Citizen Award to the girl chosen because she possesses, to an outstanding degree, the following four qualities:

Dependability—which includes truthfulness, loyalty, punctuality.

Service—cooperation, courtesy, consideration of others.

Leadership—personality, self-control, ability to assume leadership.

Patriotism—unselfish interest in family, school, community and nation.

Mary Bean is a member of the National Honor Society and a Regents College Scholarship winner. She is a member of Le Cercle Francois (French Club), and vice president of the Leaders Club. During her years in high school she has worked on the school newspaper, has been a cheer leader, secretary of the Junior Class, member of the Ski Club, and participated in intramural sports.

Miss Bean was presented with a Good Citizen pin by the local Chapter DAR and will now be eligible for a regional or even State Good Citizen Award.

Heart Leader Is Critical of Fund Cutbacks

KINGSTON

Impending cutbacks in government support of cardiovascular research were described today by Dr. Walter B. Frommeyer Jr., president of the American Heart Association, as "a tragedy which may leave its mark on millions of Americans—living and yet unborn."

Dr. Frommeyer said: "If there is concern over the federal government's proposal to spend no more than $3,900,000,000 on the space program during the next fiscal year, then there should be equal concern over the prospect of getting only $163 million for use by the National Heart Institute in the fight against our country's deadliest killer. This is $3 million less than was appropriated for the current fiscal year, and $24 million less than could have been expected if the normal formula of 15 per cent yearly increases for sustaining research was applied."

Declaring that studies to solve the mysteries of heart and circulatory diseases are fully as important to the national welfare as moon landings, Dr. Frommeyer said that fewer federal dollars for cardiovascular research could have damaging results.

Dr. Frommeyer pointed out that the Heart Association, while giving first consideration to research needs, also embraces elaborate and far-reaching programs of professional education, public education and community service. These activities are financed through the Heart Fund, which, in 1968, totaled about $37,750,000, received in the form of Heart Fund contributions, bequests and memorials. Since 1949, more than 145 million Heart Fund dollars have been channeled into research.

Young Boaters Course Slated

KINGSTON

Area youngsters interested in taking New York State's new Young Boatman's Safety Course may enroll now for the course according to Charles Kohl who has volunteered to teach the program in this area.

Youngsters between the ages of 10-14 must take the course, sponsored by the Conservation Department's Division of Motor Boats, and earn a safety certificate before they may lawfully operate a mechanically propelled boat alone on New York State waters this year.

The course consists of eight basic units and is designed to be taught in one-hour sessions. All course material will be furnished free to youngsters taking the course.

Plan books, work books and flip charts, all graphically illustrating basic safety requirements and precautions, will be used in teaching the course. The charts will be based on a boating safety handbook entitled "Make Sure — Make Shore."

The course will be taught in this area at Kingston Power Boat Association beginning March 17, 7:30 p.m.

Child Health Clinics

Two child health conferences, conducted by the Ulster County Health Department are scheduled next week. The first is Tuesday, March 25 at the Tumor Clinic, 400 Broadway, Kingston from 9:30 to 10:30 a.m. The other will be held Wednesday, March 26 from 1 to 3 p.m. at the M. F. Whitney House, Poughkeepsie. The clinics are limited to infant and pre-school children.

RED COLONEL KILLED — Russian Army Colonel D. V. Leonov was killed last week while leading Soviet forces during battle against Communist Chinese troops over the disputed Damansky Island, official Soviet sources said in Moscow. Leonov had been a candidate in local council elections and had already written his victory speech, a blood covered copy of which was found in pockets of his uniform after he was killed, the Russians say. Dog Training Match Show Set March 23

The Ulster Dog Training Club Inc. will present an AKC sanctioned obedience match show at the Municipal Auditorium, 467 Broadway, Kingston, Sunday, March 23 at 1 p.m. Entries will be accepted starting 12 noon.

Trophies and ribbons will be given in all classes. Special awards will be given to the highest scoring dog in the regular class; highest scoring dog in the non-regular class; highest scoring junior handler; highest scoring Miniature Schnauzer; highest scoring Labrador Retriever.

Classes and judges are Pre-Novice and Novice B, Carlton Welch; Novice A, Brace, Graduate Novice, Armand Rivers; Open B, Graduate Open, Versatility, Edwin Keppler; Utility, Graduate Utility, Open A, Marion Gowans.

Match chairman is Marie Sanford with Joseph Fay as co-chairman. Homemade refreshments will be available. The public may attend.

Realtors Plan Meeting, Study

KINGSTON

The Ulster County Board of Realtors will meet Thursday at the Savings & Loan Association, 267 Wall Street, at 7:30 p.m. The regular monthly Multiple Listing Service meeting will be held the same night following the board meeting.

The special feature at the board meeting will be a representative from FHA, Albany, to explain the Housing Act of 1968 and its effect on the local Real Estate Market.

It is also planned on having the new resident staff appraiser who will be doing all the FHA appraisals for Ulster and Dutchess Counties.

All salespeople and brokers of the board may attend. The education committee of the board will sponsor another seminar March 25 at 8 p.m. at the Savings & Loan Association. The guest instructor will be H. VanWyck Darrow and he will go into detail how to qualify the buyer in advance, how to accurately figure closing costs, and how to best present financing to the bank.

Registration Ends This Week For JCC Course

KINGSTON
Registration closes this week for the course on Jewish American literature offered by the Jewish Community Center. Center members and non-members may participate in the course, with the first session set for 7:30 p. m. Tuesday, March 25, at the center, 96 Maiden Lane. The first session will be devoted to Henry's Call It Sleep. Instructor for the course will be Lawrence P. Borzumato, assistant professor of English at UCC. Other sessions are planned for April 15, April 29 and May 13. Those interested may contact the center office for registration and fee information. The course will be concerned with contemporary Jewish-American writers and their work in relationship to the body of American literature.

JCC Bridge Winners Listed

KINGSTON
Joseph Mautner and Nathan Katatsky of Kingston captured the winter open pairs championship recently at the Jewish Community Center's Duplicate Bridge Club. They led a field of 28 teams, with 28 boards in play, scoring a 68 per cent game.
Second were Mrs. Pauline Rideout and Shalil Ahmed of Poughkeepsie, while Mr. and Mrs. Henry Berleth, Woodstock placed third. Fourth were Jack Natzeley and Mel Lyons, with Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Peck, fifth, and Mrs. Andrew Dykes and Ralph Wesselman, sixth.
Others placing North-South were Stanley King and Mrs. Robert Yallum, Dr. and Mrs. John A. Olivet and Herbert Gertner and Dr. Victor Randel. Placing East-West were Mrs. Linda Cavin and Mrs. Nancy Brabec and the team of A. Syracuse and M. Schlein.
The club will hold its regular rating-point game at 7:30 p. m. Thursday, at the center, 96 Maiden Lane. All bridge players may attend.
Winners of last year's major trophies will be honored at a party preceding the March 27 game. All players are invited to attend the 6:45 party and then participate in the 7:30 game.
A novice game, for players with less than 20 master points, is set for 7:30 p. m. Monday, March 24, at the center. Mrs. Andrew Dykes is in charge of the novice game.

POINTING IT OUT — Central Hudson Division Manager Wilbur R. Peters (L) points out the property the utility has agreed to let the county use for a park at Perrine's Bridge to a group consisting of (from right) Elmer Carney, vice president of the Perrine's Bridge Committee; Richard Nace, chairman of the Ulster County Park and Recreation Commission, and Peter J. Savago, chairman of the County Legislature.

Perrine Site To Have Park

RIFTON The present plans call for a public picnic and sightseeing area on the far side of the bridge, which spans the Wallkill and once carried the bulk of New York-to-Albany traffic on the west side of the Hudson. Floral plantings are also being considered.

Central Hudson has also granted permission to use a 1600-foot strip of land between the Wallkill and Route 213 for parking, as a landing area for small boats, or for such other purposes related to the proposed park.

Participating in the ceremony were Wilson, Savago, Carney, Richard Nace, chairman of the Park and Recreation Commission, and two Central Hudson representatives: Wilbur R. Peters, manager of the Upper Hudson Division, and Joseph J. Benjamin, Division Customer Relations Manager.

Committee Efforts
The historic covered bridge has long been the focus of restoration efforts of the Perrine's Bridge Committee headed by John Grady of Rifton. The span itself was restored with great authentic care at the end of last year. Additional work at the approaches will be another aim of the preservation group which is looking forward to a grand opening of the park and bridge to the public in late June.

The restoration work was completed through matching state and county grants totaling $50,000.

WHAT IS A GOOD BUY IN ROAST BEEF?

First you can not go by price per pound without seeing the roast. You will find most Super Markets and practically all Service Stores "LARD THE ROAST." This means they add fat around the roast, then tie it. It can add as much as a pound and a half to your roast. The lard helps the flavor of the roast. However, at Mohican we DO NOT add fat to our Roast Beef but after it is scaled if you desire we give you FREE fat to help flavorize your roast. So don't be fooled by lower prices, you get just what you pay for. A good reason to buy your meat at Mohican . . . just one of many.

Public Crime Attitude Topic of Snyder Talk

WASHINGTON, D. C. — John M. Snyder of Kingston recently lectured Georgetown University sociology students here on the public's attitude towards crime in the nation. Snyder advised the class that "The immediate and necessary protection of lives and property through strengthened law enforcement and a streamlined administration of justice must be balanced by long range efforts to alleviate that form of human misery which constitutes a breeding ground for so many crime impulses."

Snyder is a political scientist, assistant magazine editor and well-known public speaker. A graduate of Kingston High School, he holds a Master's degree in American Government from Georgetown.

A Question About Floor Covering.

Is Indoor-Outdoor Carpet good for kitchens & baths?

No! We feel indoor-outdoor carpet is excellent for certain places — NOT for kitchens & baths. There is on the market a carpet made expressly for kitchen & baths.

Memo

From LARRY SWARS

To Radio Listeners,

We celebrate our thirtieth birthday this year and, as we think back, we are amazed to realize that we have broadcast the news of just about everything of any importance that has happened in the world during that period.

This has been possible because we have availed ourselves of the leading world and national news services and have employed top flight local newspeople.

Millions and millions of words have been said over our facilities and heard by two generations of Kingston area listeners . . . Billions of musical notes have been launched into the Hudson Valley atmosphere by our series of three transmitters (the first two wore out while sending out Bing Crosby, Guy Lombardo and music by other favorites of the past three decades).

New electronic equipment, expert engineering, increased power and carefully selected personnel keep us up to date. Our relations with the people of the Kingston area are as cordial as our cooperation can make them. Public service by this radio station helps with crime control, health maintenance, weather and other emergency warnings. Scores of charitable causes are supported free of charge.

Why go on? . . . Most of you know all about us.

What will we do next? Naturally, we'll continue our CBS affiliation . . . we'll continue to develop local talent . . . we'll continue to aid all worthy causes . . . and we'll keep on saying and playing the kind of things that please you.

Where what you want to know comes first.

NEW WESTONS SHOPPER CITY PLANNED FOR TOWN OF ULSTER
(Architects drawing by Laurence Werfel, Weissman, Berg)

Apollo 10 Up May 18

Moon Landing to Await Apollo 11 Hop

—SPACE CENTER. Houston, miles above the moon and the Tex. (AP) — High level space officials have decided to send Apollo 10 around the moon for 63 hours, but man's first landing there will have to await the flight of Apollo 11.

A source at the Manned Spacecraft Center said the space agency officials adopted this course at a meeting Tuesday.

Within 10 Miles

Apollo 10 will be launched May 18, the source said, and fly into lunar orbit. Two of its crew will then fly the landing module to within 10 miles of the lunar surface, leaving the third crewman behind in the command module.

The lunar module descent stage will be jettisoned at 10 judged it would be more prudent to use Apollo 10 to gather more information about the moon and make the big try later with Apollo 11.

Tracking Our Concern

One concern is accurate tracking and orbital altitude determination. Engineers learned during Apollo 8 that differences in the gravitational pull of various areas of the moon cause altitude changes for orbiting spacecraft greater than had been noted on unmanned lunar orbiters.

The crew for Apollo 10 will be Stafford: Navy Cmdr. Eugene Cernan and Navy Cmdr. John Young, all veterans of the Gemini space flight series.

Orange Prof Dies in Accra

MIDDLETOWN, N.Y. (AP) — Walter M. Albrecht, associate professor of history at Orange Community College, died Sunday at a hospital in Accra, Ghana, school officials reported today. Cause of death was not disclosed.

Albrecht, 48, was on a sabbatical making a study tour of Africa. He had been in the area about a month.

Albrecht, on the college faculty since 1959, leaves his widow, four daughters and a son, who reside in Goshen.

Burial will be in Accra, with memorial services scheduled at Goshen Methodist Church.

Weston Chain to Ulster--- Part of Mall Development

By ALBERT J. CAWEIN

TOWN OF ULSTER

Westons Shoppers City chain plans to construct a 130,000 square foot discount department store estimated to cost $1,750,000 at what will be known as the Kingston Mall at the southeast corner of the Route 9W—199 cloverleaf in the Town of Ulster.

No date has been announced for the start of construction.

Bernard Siegel & Company, New York City, developer of the complex on the 45-acre tract also announced that the second phase of the ultra-modern development will include another major department store chain along with many other specialty-type stores to complete this gigantic shopping center complex. He termed it the first complete major shopping center in the region.

Howard I. Simon, president of Westons chain of discount stores announced this week that the company is planning a one-stop discount department store which will house more than 100 complete merchandise departments, including a giant discount food supermarket. A free parking area for 1,500 cars will be adjacent to the Weston store.

The announcement noted that Westons will hire and train approximately 175 Ulster

County men and women with an annual payroll at more than $500,000.

Simon said, "in constructing this great store, the 10th in Westons discount department store chain, we hope it will become a landmark in Ulster County, and when we do break ground, we will do so with complete faith in the future growth and vitality of this community."

The Freeman first announced plans for the shopping center complex March 11, 1967. At that time it was announced that 40 stores would be constructed on the site known as the Dugan property. Plans at that time were to construct an enclosed mall.

The Freeman ran several stories about the proposed project as further developments were announced. On Oct. 18, 1967 a report of a preliminary survey and test borings was announced.

Other Westons units are now operating in the Albany, Binghamton, Olean and Watertown, New York areas and in Franklin-Oil City, Pa. Of the other four openings planned, one is also slated for Middletown.

Simon said, "Westons has strived for an with constant vigilance, maintains a favorable image by giving its customers only first quality merchandise, courteous service, complete stocks in all departments and a liberal money-back guarantee. Westons will offer Ulster County the finest fashion-right apparel for the entire family in a vast assortment of styles, sizes and colors, featuring ladies coats, suits, dresses, sportswear, lingerie and mens, boys, girls and infants furnishings. The houseware Division will offer famous national advertised brands at the lowest possible prices."

The discount chain's president said the new facility will be far more attractive than most metropolitan retail establishments. Carpeting in many departments will reflect the quality of the fashion merchandise. The store will feature wide aisles, fast central checkout system, background music, a public address system for in-store announcing of unadvertised specials, he said.

The Weston chain was founded 10 years ago in Olean. Weston's executive staff and buying offices are based in New York City. A staff of 15 trained, round-the-world buyers see to it that Westons buys the fashion-right and timely merchandise at the right price.

Weston's home offices in New York City are in the heart of the garment manufacturing industry, affording its buyers quick access to the newest fashions and style trends, Simon said.

For Marbletown GOP

Commerce Chief Speaker

STONE RIDGE can Club to be held at the S.R.S. Home in Cottagekill Saturday night. Neal L. Moylan, recently appointed as Commissioner of Commerce by Governor Rockefeller, has been named speaker for the annual installation dinner of the Marbletown Republican Club to be held at the S.R.S. Home in Cottagekill Saturday night.

Early Start

AUBURN, N. Y. (AP) — The next mayoral contest in this Finger Lakes city got off to an early start Monday, some two and one-half years before the election.

The early start came when Francis J. Mastropietro, vice president of the local school board, announced plans to enter the Republican mayoral primary in 1971.

Moylan, a career employee with more than 20 years in the state government, had served as first deputy Commissioner of Commerce from April 1966 until his appointment in November. He served with the state since 1947 in the fields of public relations and communications and in areas of business and administration. Moylan lists numerous executive positions in state and national business and fraternal organizations.

The commissioner is a former member of the board of directors of the New York State Broadcasting Association and past president of the Albany Junior Chamber of Commerce and the Albany Kiwanis Club. He resides in Delmar with his wife, Regina.

NEAL L. MOYLAN

YOUNG MARINE PROMOTIONS — Announcement has been made by John Ray Mayone, training officer of the Ulster County Young Marines, of the promotion of Pfc. Charles McCullough (L) and Pfc. Francis Tiano to the rank of lance corporal. Gilbert E. Gray (R) commanding officer of the unit presents promotion certificates. Under the Young Marine program, each boy is required to submit his school report card for inspection, and the boy's parent must mark in the boy's grades for deportment at home, his behavior with brothers and sisters, the daily chores each boy does, and the neatness of his room. These records are kept in each young marine's file. LC McCullough turned in the best report card. He is the son of Det. Sgt. and Mrs. Charles McCullough of the Kingston Police Department, and is a third grade student. LC Tiano is the son of Patsy and Evelyn Tiano of Glasco. He was named Boy of the Month at his school. Both boys will be assigned to additional responsibilities in their platoon. Commander Gray advises the public that the Young Marine Unit is available when needed for any worthy civic project. Indian Drum and Bugle Corps Still Seek Six Horn Players

KINGSTON The Kingston Indians Drum and Bugle Corps is still seeking six experienced horn players to join the ranks for the 1969 competitive season, it was announced today.

Rehearsal Tonight

Interested youngsters in these vacancies are reminded that a rehearsal will be held tonight from 6:30 to 9 o'clock at Old Dutch Church.

Rehearsals and drills by the Indians have been underway some time in preparation for the first field competition of the new season. The Indians will launch the 1969 program on May 24 at Bridgeport, Conn.

Two of the key personnel within the Indians in charge of the forthcoming season are Al Hallenbeck, bugle instructor and Conrad Keado, drill instructor and creator of the 1969 field drill program.

Hallenbeck, who is the head of the instrumental music department at Mt. Pleasant High School in Schenectady, began his Drum Corps career as a member of the Rochester Crusaders, former national champs, in which he played the lead soprano horn. For 11 years he has been a member of the New York State Chapter of All American Judges and is the associate chief judge of bugle judges. He also serves as a member of the Drum Corps Association Judging Panel as a bugle judge.

The Dorplan City instructor played first trumpet for four years with the U. S. Navy Bands in Washington, D. C. and Boston, Mass.

Keado also is no stranger to drum corps organizations throughout the eastern seaboard.

He is the category chief judge for marching and maneuvering of the N.Y. State Chapter of All American Judges. Since becoming a judge in 1962, he has officiated at eight state championship contests and the VFW National in Cleveland in addition to many area contests. Several junior drum corps using his drill programs have captured their respective class championships, both in New York and New England.

Aaron Copland, Musical Giant, Conducts Brilliant Concert

By DOROTHY A. NAREL

Aaron Copland, Brooklyn born composer, writer and lecturer, who early in his career utilized jazz idioms with effectiveness and freshness, conducted Monday night's (March 17) Hudson Valley Philharmonic concert in the Community Theatre.

It was the orchestra's finest performance and a decided treat to have a conductor of Copland's stature in Kingston.

Copland is a musical giant. His two original works "El Salon Mexico," and "Appalachian Spring," marked the evening's high spots in addition to the beautiful "Romeo et Juliette," by Tchaikowsky.

Copland writes music that appeals to large audiences at first hearing and he doesn't cheapen his ideas by "talking down" to his public. Regardless of what style he chooses, he always has a fine feeling for form, excellent techniques and a natural flair for orchestration. He writes music that attracts attention and arouses pleasure. His repeated curtain calls proved that fact. Here was a man who proved he was capable, through his music and superb conducting, to lift an entire audience out of the doldrums of every day existence to a high plateau of pleasure and appreciation.

In his "El Salon Mexico," you can almost feel a live contact with the Mexican people in the famous dance hall in Mexico City, Salon Mexico. Filled with Mexican folk tunes, the music is brilliant with color and marvelous rhythms. About his own composition Copland once said:

"I adopted a form which is a kind of modified potpourri in which Mexican themes and their extensions are sometimes inextricably mixed for the sake of conciseness and coherence."

Copland's "Appalachian Spring," written as a ballet for Martha Graham in 1944, surpassed even "El Salon Mexico" with its orchestral colors and infectious rhythms. Little wonder why it won a Pulitzer Prize for music.

Under Copland's direction, the Hudson Valley Philharmonic had its shining hour particularly when they played "Romeo et Juliette" in the first half of the program. Here, Copland succeeded beautifully in achieving almost luscious tones from the string section in the inspiring "love music" portion of the work. I have never heard the Philharmonic play with such conviction and moving intensity. They opened their program with the Schubert "Symphony No. 5 in B flat Major." It is often referred to as the "Symphony without trumpets and drums."

Ulster County Activities

Names Committee

Betty Buck, president, Saugerties Columbiettes, named a nominating committee for new slate of officers at the regular monthly meeting on Wednesday, March 12, which was held at the Council home. The committee includes Eva Sweeney, Berry Lynch, Gerry Ruddy, Pat Blundell and Mary Campochiaro.

Several meetings and socials were discussed at the meeting including the luncheon at Xavier Society for the Blind in New York which has been scheduled for Saturday. This meeting will be held for all girls who work on the large-type books, proof readers, illustrators, and anyone interested in seeing the workshops in action. Lillian Conte is in charge.

The annual rummage sale planned for this month was postponed until the fall.

The Auxiliary voted to send two delegate to the State convention in Syracuse in June.

A request for kitchen help on Thursday evening during game activities was made. Members were asked to sign up for any Thursday night.

Saugerties Columbiettes will celebrate their 10th anniversary as an auxiliary this fall. Chairmen planning the event are Amy Higgins, Bette Wehr, and Pat Blundell. Tentative plans are being made for a dinner-dance at the Capri '400' in Port Ewen.

There will be a Major Degree on May 18 at K of C Hall in Kingston. All candidates awaiting their "major" will be notified by mail. A Columbierte Auxiliary is now being formed at New Paltz. Members will take their first degree on Sunday, Mar. 30.

The Hudson Valley Chapter Columbiettes meeting and luncheon will take place Saturday, April 26, at Middletown, Mass. will be celebrated at St. Carmel's Church at 11 a.m. with luncheon and meeting afterwards at K of C Hall.

A wig demonstration will be presented by J&J Wig Hut, Kingston, at the April meeting. Guests are invited.

To Meet Tuesday

The Ladies Society of Santa Maria will hold its monthly meeting Tuesday, Mar. 25 at 8 p.m. at St. Mary's hall, North Street, Kingston. Gertrude Ferguson will be guest.

All members are urged to attend as plans for the annual communion breakfast will be discussed.

Covered Dish Supper

Kingston Hospital Auxiliary will sponsor a covered dish supper Tuesday, Mar. 25 at 7 p.m. in the nurses' residence. Members are requested to bring their favorite dish.

Program for the evening will be a talk on hypnosis by Dr. Walter Levy.

To Meet Thursday

Ancient Order of Hibernians, Division No. 5, will meet Thursday at 8 p.m. at nights of Columbus hall, Broadway, Kingston.

All members are asked to attend.

Thursday Meeting

The regular monthly meeting of Ladies Auxiliary of East Kingston Fire Company will be held Thursday at 8 p.m. at the firehouse.

All women of the fire district are invited to attend.

Fashion Show

Spring and summer fashions, including casual-wear, cocktail dresses, and beachwear, will be featured Saturday at the annual fashion show and dinner-dance, sponsored by Phoenicia Rotary Club. The event will start at 7:10 p.m. at Al's Restaurant, Phoenicia.

Dinner menu features prime ribs of beef; music will be provided by the 3-J's; and fashions, courtesy of Sears Roebuck Company, Kingston. Co-chairmen of the event are Philip Gordon and Ralph Breakell. Miss Joanne Augustine will be fashion show commentator. Ticket team captains include Len Byer, Gene Gormley and Bill Gray. Model co-ordinators are Mrs. Philip Gordon and Mrs. Ralph Breakell.

All proceeds will be donated towards scholarships for Ontario Central School students.

Music Program Held

The Musical Society of Kingston presented a program on the culture and music of Finland on Wednesday, Mar. 12, at the home of Mrs. Lloyd LeFever. Mrs. John Erickson, chairman, was dressed in a Finnish costume. Research and narration were presented by Mrs. Henry Millonig.

The program included art songs, folk songs, and patriotic songs, sung in the Finnish language. Music by Finnish composers, Frederick Pacius, F. A. Ehrstrom, Jean Sibelius, Yrjo Kilpinen and Armas Jarnfelt, were featured.

The Musical Society's Choral Group participated in the program. Members of the group included Mrs. Dorothea Flick, Mrs. Marian Harper, Mrs. Cecelia Keelm, Mrs. Rita Wood, Mrs. Betty LeFever, Mrs. Miriam Erickson, and Mrs. Collette Sonnenberg. Mrs. Edna Rignall was director and accompanist. Other members taking part in the program were Mrs. Jane Tonnese, piano; Mrs. Marjorie VanVoorhis, violin; and Mrs. Judith MacIsaac, piano.

Hostesses were Mrs. Thomas Keelm and Mrs. Elmore Nathan.

Luncheon Planned

A luncheon will be served by Wynkoop Circle of the Guild for Christian Service of Reformed Church of the Comforter in Fellowship Hall on Wynkoop Place, Kingston, on Thursday, Mar. 27, beginning at 11:45 a.m.

For reservations contact Mrs. Robert Scheffel, Kingston.

Wyn Sawford, Kingston, Ontario Chapter of Sweet Adelines, Regent of Northeastern Region No. 1, has recently released new regional membership figures to the Chapters. The Colonial City Chapter chorus is now one of 36 chartered chapters in the Northeastern Region, with 10 prospective chapters working on completing requirements for minimum membership, leadership and charter application.

Northeastern Region No. 1 is comprised of the six New England States, the eastern part of New York State, the southeastern portion of Ontario, all of Quebec, and Nova Scotia. There are more than 1,250 members in this Region, which is one of 15 such areas in the 23 year old organization, which has its headquarters in Tulsa, Oklahoma.

Several members of the Colonial City Chapter recently attended a Regional Meeting and Music School at the Park Sheraton Hotel in New York City. Events included Quartet Coaching, Advanced Chorus Directors Forum, Fundamentals of Chorus Directing and Musical Arrangements Seminar. The Stamford Yankee maid Chapter of Connecticut, hostesses for the weekend, presented a Show of Champions featuring choruses and quartets from the Region. Chapter plans are being made to attend the annual Regional Chorus competition in May to be held in Boston, Mass. The competition is one of the highlights of the Sweet Adeline year, and this year the local chapter will have a quartet competing for the first time. The "Ban-Jos" are Dixie Westervelt, Nancy Bishopp, Dorothy Ridgeway and Barbara Bondar, and the quartet has made several appearances with the chorus. The Sweet Adelines offer something for all women who enjoy singing. For the novice there is just the enjoyment of a pleasant evening of singing, while for the more musically skilled the opportunities are available for arranging music, directing, quartet singing and coaching. Any woman who has considered joining the Sweet Adelines should plan to attend a rehearsal, held every Tuesday evening at the St. James Methodist Church at 8 o'clock. Now is the time to join to be in on the fun and excitement of the spring competition.

Membership Pledges for New Synagogue

A resolution was proposed and unanimously passed by the Building Fund Committee of Congregation Agudas Achim concerning basic voluntary contributions for the general membership toward the building of the new Synagogue on Lucas Avenue, Kingston. Enthusiasm for the synagogue was demonstrated at the March 9 meeting when all present pledged contributions.

Full details of the resolution and other pertinent matters will be mailed to the entire membership.

David Popick, president of Congregation, presided at the well-attended meeting, after which refreshments were served by members of Sisterhood.

Hints From Heloise

Dear Heloise:

When I buy a pattern, I also buy a large filing envelope. I cut the pattern envelope apart and paste the front and back pieces on the filing envelope.

The pattern fits into the filing envelope after use, and the envelope itself is much stronger than the one the pattern came in.

It works, and is flat and neat to store for later use. Darlene

LETTER OF LAUGHTER

Dear Folks:

I have been trying out different brands of frozen pies lately and I have really got a laugh for you all.

I let them set out until the top crust gets soft, then use a fork and remold the edge so it will look homemade when it's served! How's that for a "homemade" idea? Heloise

Dear Heloise:

Had a pretty sick kiddo with measles, and fluids were hard to get down. So I filled my teapot and let Ricky drink from the spout. He loved it.

The top keeps out the dust and it's easier to drink from the spout while lying down. Guess variety is the spice of life when you're sick. Mother Love

Dear Heloise:

I find that many wash dresses I buy don't have eyelets in the belts, and therefore tear easily.

So I put eyelets in the belt before the dress is washed. (You can buy them at any dime store) First I iron a narrow strip of iron-on tape to the back of the belt. Then I use a paper punch the size of the eyelet to make a hole through the tape to correspond with the original hole in the belt.

Put eyelet in according to directions on eyelet box. It's well-worth the time and effort, as belts will last much longer. Mrs. D. Ball

Social-Fund Raising for GOP

TEA GUESTS at a party in Kingston recently included such Republican women as (L-R) Mrs. Bruce Snyder, who poured, Mrs. Pete Powell; Miss Ellen Donovan, newly appointed assistant district attorney; and Mrs. Augustus Parker, who hosted the social gathering. Purpose of the get-together was to plan a Social and Fun Evening in order to raise funds for the GOP Kingston Finance Committee. (Freeman photo by Haines).

Mr. and Mrs. Augustus Parker of 73 Crane Street, this city, hosted a tea and social for leading Republican women from the City of Kingston Sunday, March 16.

The purpose of the social gathering was to establish plans for a Social and Fun Evening on Saturday, April 12 in an effort to raise funds for the City of Kingston Republican Finance Committee. The event will be held in the New York State Armory on North Manor Avenue, this city, from 9 p.m. to 1 a.m.

Serving as ticket chairman of the event will be Harry Kaprielian. All Republican women have been invited to join in working together on this project, campaign plans and a September dinner. Those interested may contact Mrs. Parker or Mrs. William Krum, member of the Kingston GOP Executive Committee and secretary to the finance committee.

Guest speakers for the occasion included Miss Ellen Donovan, newly appointed assistant district attorney, and Mrs. Marie J. Dunham, member of the New York State Women's Council. Other speakers were City Chairman Ward W. Ingalsbe, David Ryland, entertainment chairman; James Rapp, chairman of the finance committee; James Martin, publicity; Mrs. Albert Kurdt, second vice president, Ulster County Women's Republican Club.

Republican women who attended the function included the Mes. William Snyder, James Tyrrell, Richard

Working with the committee-in-charge also will be the Mes. John Bechtold, Edwin Ashdown, Ira Trast, Salvatore Aprea, Joseph Berryann, John Crews, John Machione, Edward T. Feeney and Ward Ingalsbe. Refreshments were served and Mrs. William Snyder poured.

Doing the Right Thing

By ELIZABETH L. POST
Dear Mrs. Post: Every year I visit in a home and the people I am visiting are always invited to a gathering. The hostesses are always complete strangers to me. They know I am a guest in the home but never telephone to tell my hosts to bring me along. Am I not right in refusing to go to a complete stranger's party without an invitation?—Harriet

Dear Harriet: Yes, you are. Those giving the party should specifically ask your hosts to bring you, and if they do not, your own hostess should remind them that you are visiting, and ask if you may come.

Dear Mrs. Post: When a young couple is engaged, who sets the wedding date—the bride, the groom, or is it set by mutual agreement of each? I know of a prospective bride who set a date which is very inconvenient for the prospective groom's working conditions. The etiquette of this situation is most important to heal the rift.—Mrs. S.

Dear Mrs. S.: The bride who starts out by making such an important decision without consulting her groom and his family is headed for trouble. There is an old saying that a man doesn't realize how unimportant he is until he attends his own wedding. When that is true, the chances are he'll soon be attending his own divorce. Marriage is a partnership, and from the start, all major decisions must be made by both partners.

What is your most puzzling etiquette problem? To the sender of the most interesting question that I receive each week, I will send a free copy of Emily Post's Etiquette. The question chosen, and its answer, will be published in this column every Friday. Send your question to Elizabeth L. Post in care of this newspaper, and don't forget to include your name and address.

Onteora, Rondout Share All-UCAL Honors

Each Voted Two Berths

PINE BUSH The first team, with Highland Central's league High picking up the fifth berth, champions and runnerup Rondout Valley dominate the 1969—All-UCAL basketball selections announced today by the league's coaches. Each placed two players on two.

THIRD TEAM

Name, School	Ht.	Wt.	Class
Jim Manee, New Paltz	6'1"	160	Senior
Bob Klementis, Onteora	6'6"	207	Senior
Jim Rowe, Rondout	5'11"	160	Senior
Dan Martuscello, Marlboro	5'10"	175	Senior
Bruce Koenig, New Paltz	6'2"	160	Senior

Named to the first team from Onteora were Steve Kimmel and Paul Pettinato. Rondout placed John Meehan, son of the Rondout coach, and high scoring Pete Koola. Lee Barrington of Highland rounded out the first team.

Jeff Greiner and Dan Marsh of Marlboro were named to the second team, along with John Stelcin of Onteora; John Crawford, Highland; and Dave Barr of New Paltz.

The third team lists Jim Manee and Bruce Koenig of New Paltz; Dan Martuscello, Marlboro; Jim Rowe of Rondout and Onteora's 6-foot-6 center big Bob Klementis.

Was Top Scorer

Koola, a 6-4 junior, led all UCAL scorers with 208 points for a 12-game average of 17.3 points. Barrington ranked second behind Koola with a 16.8 average.

Kimmel, a junior, was a superb ball handler and floor general for the powerful Onteora team which was undefeated in UCAL competition. He averaged 13.4 points a game.

Teammate Paul Pettinato, a 6-2 senior, averaged 9.5 points and a good clutch shooter for the champion Indians.

Meehan averaged 10.4 in the UCAL and like Kimmel was the key floor man for the Ganders, who captured the Class B Section Nine title and almost pulled off a major upset in the game against Newburgh Academy's Class A champions, losing 49 to 44.

Only One Repeater

Koola, the best shooter in the conference, is the only repeater on the squad, having been accorded first team rating in his sophomore year. Meehan was a second team choice in 1968. Greiner and Marsh, the two Marlboro choices on the second team, averaged 15.2 and 14.4 points, respectively. Barr of New Paltz had a 14-point average.

Greiner had the highest single game production—35 points—during the 1968-69 season.

First Hat Trick For Ted Irvine

Ted Irvine scored his first hat trick Tuesday night, and all three goals were needed.

The Los Angeles Kings rode his performance to a 3-2 victory over the Oakland Seals in a National Hockey League game.

He got his first two goals within 29 seconds in the first period and completed the hat trick midway through the second period. That gave the Kings a 3-0 bulge—too much for the Seals to overcome.

A goal by Gerry Odrowski brought Oakland to within 3 in the second period, and Bill Hicke scored his 23rd goal of the season with four minutes left in the game to make it 3-2.

Gibson and McLain Varying Results

By United Press International

Bob Gibson and Denny McLain, prime protagonists in the 1968 World Series, saw action Tuesday—not against each other—and came up with varying results.

Gibson, embarking on his first $100,000 contract with the St. Louis Cardinals, pitched three scoreless innings in his spring debut and watched as his teammates gave him six big runs, good enough to sink the Baltimore Orioles 9-5.

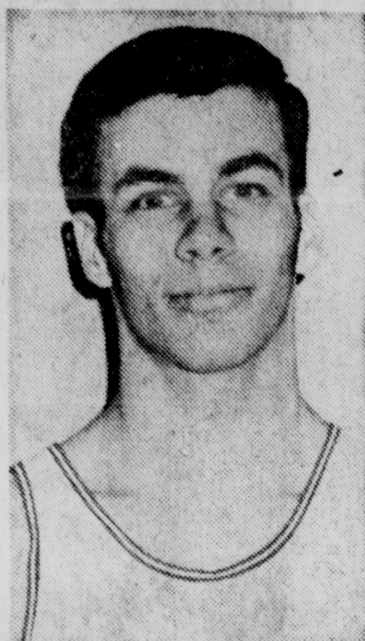

The Cards, taking their cue from Gibson, batted around in the second against Tom Phoebus for their six-run surge that the Orioles could not overcome. Paul Blair hit two homers for the Orioles but they weren't enough. The victory snapped a seven-game Baltimore streak.

McLain, meanwhile, got his lumps. The Philadelphia Phillies bombed the 31-game winner with five runs in the second inning and went on to easily defeat the Detroit Tigers 6-2. Bill White's three-run homer highlighted the onslaught.

The New York Yankees used a pinch-hit home run by Bobby Murcer in the eighth inning in picking up a 7-5 triumph over the Cincinnati Reds—the Yankees' fourth straight exhibition victory. Murcer's game-winning blow off Jack Fisher offset back-to-back pinch homers by Fred Whitfield and Leon Wagner in the Reds' four-run sixth.

The Washington Senators notched their second win of the exhibition campaign by blanking the Montreal Expos 5-0 behind the three-hit effort of Joe Coleman, Dick Bosman and Dave Baldwin.

In other Grapefruit League games, Houston stopped the Chicago White Sox 4-0 behind the seven-hit pitching of Denny Lemaster and Tom Griffin, the Chicago Cubs stopped the Seattle Pilots 8-5, the New York Mets blanked the Los Angeles Dodgers 3-0 and the San Diego Padres stopped the California Angels 9-3.

Army Stuns South Carolina, 59 to 45; BC Nips Louisville in Basket-Brawl

NEW YORK (UPI)—Army's defense-minded Cadets pulled off the upset of the National Invitation Tournament Tuesday night but the war didn't start until Boston College brawled with Louisville.

Army, playing its typical methodical game, stunned the co-favorite South Carolina

The tempo of the rough BC-Louisville battle was set with 2:48 left in the first half when BC's Billy Evans was going in all alone for a layup and Louisville's 6-6 Ed Linonis shoved him from behind into the front row seats. Evans was shaken up and missed both free throws.

in the second half when the Eagles' 6-5 sub Vin Costello slugged Linonis, starting a fight that emptied both benches and resulted in the ejection of both players and each team being charged with two technical fouls.

Costello, who also claimed Linonis was guilty of an illegal "running pick" to block out BC players underneath, said, "I hit him. It was a case of retaliation. He was picking on little guys like Evans and I'm his size."

The score was tied 51-51 when the game was resumed after the technicals were shot, and it remained a fast-breaking, see-saw contest of high-charged emotions the rest of the way. Boston College displayed a quicker and faster attack and gradually pulled away to a 70-65 lead with eight minutes left and the Cards never got closer than three points.

The playmaking Evans, who came back from his tumble into the seats and several other collisions, was the difference for BC. He scored 15 points and made 13 assists to tie the NIT record. Terry Driscoll, who grabbed 22 rebounds and started the Eagle fast break with his long, one-handed passes off the boards, scored 29 as Evans consistently set him up for layups.

Evans was so emotionally wrought by the tense game that he was sobbing as he walked from the court to the dressing room after the game.

"I just got wrapped up in the game," Evans said after he recovered his composure in the dressing room. "I'm OK now."

Evans had a slight cut on the cheek but said he hadn't suffered any other injuries.

"Evans played his heart out," Cousy said. "He did an outstanding job on (Butch) Beard. He makes up for desire and dedication what he lacks in talent. He's a little guy and not the best shooter but he always plays to 120 per cent of his potential."

Louisville's John Dromo seemed happier after the loss than he was after the Cards beat Fordham in their first game. He said he had no complaints about the officials this time and enjoyed the fast tempo of the game. He thought his team "did a tremendous job."

"BC was the best club we've played this year but we took some vim and vinegar out of them," he said. "They'll get a good game from Army."

Jerry King led Louisville with 27 points while Beard had 17 and Mike Grosso 14.

Army made South Carolina play its game and the Cadets, the nation's top defensive team, controlled the tempo of the game. The Cadets worked cautiously to set up good shots, moved to a 16-8 lead with 8:12 left in the first half and never lost it.

Army, the 16th and final team selected for the NIT this year, lost five straight early in the season but now has won eight straight with its tough defense and methodical offense.

The Cadets, now 13-3, hit on 51 per cent of their shots to make up for their lack of height.

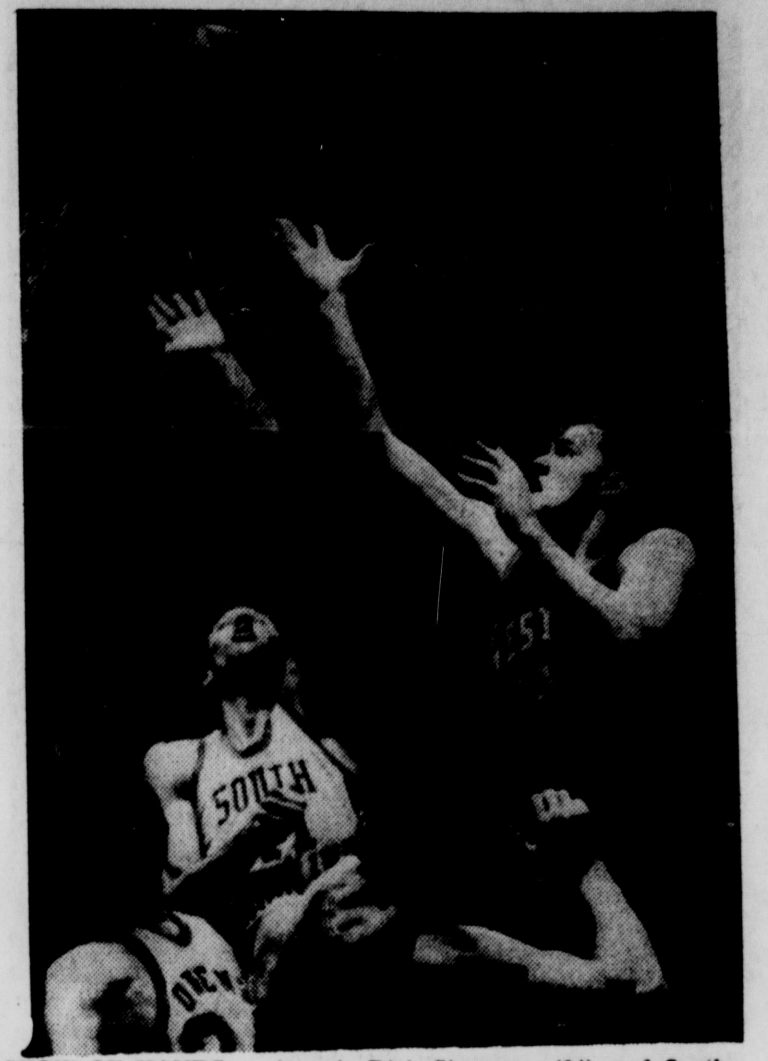

South Carolina was hurt by the absence of starter Billy Walsh, injured in a freak accident Monday when a hotel revolving glass door shattered and slashed his leg. The Gamecocks made only 35 per cent of their shots.

"We missed Walsh but you have to give them credit for playing such a fine game," South Carolina coach Frank McGuire said. "Our offense didn't go."

John Roche missed 14 of 29 shots for South Carolina but still wound up their high scorer with 16 points. Jim Oxley had 16 for Army. Dick Simmons 14 and Doug Clevenger 12.

"I didn't think I could have as bad a half again as I did in the first half but I did," Roche said. "We wanted to win the NIT because we want to take the NCAA next year and it would have been nice to win both."

South Carolina has its starting five back next year but two of the starters will probably be on the bench because McGuire has good freshmen ready to move in including 6-10 Tom Riker.

SHOW OF HANDS — Army's Dick Simmons (34) and South Carolina's (11) vie for rebound in quarterfinal action in NIT at Garden. Army upset South Carolina, 59-45. (UPI TELEPHOTO).

High Waters Delay Stream Stocking

By MORT LAFFIN

NEW PALTZZ April 1 means different things to different people. To one group of individuals, it is a day of merriment and practical joking. However, there is another group that take this day rather seriously. These individuals will be up well before the sun and on their way to their special spot. They will be well insulated, one way or another, against the brisk morning air and the cold temperature of the water in which they will stand.

This day marks the beginning of trout season and any angler will tell you that if you aren't out there on the first day, all the big ones will be caught before the sun gets behind the Catskills. But, opening day may be a bit of a disappointment to some of our local fishermen.

Robert Greene, conservationist biologist for Region Eight, working out of the New Paltz office, said that because of the high conditions of many of the creeks and streams in the Catskill area, stocking of these streams will not take place until April 20.

Greene said, "We have found that in recent years, the young fish that have been put in streams around the first of April, are swept away, thus defeating the purpose of stocking." He was quick to point out that there are many fish that are carry-overs from last year and these are the "Big Ones" that area anglers will be trying to hook.

Conservation men will be scheduling stocking of their areas as the streams lower. They will start in the lower areas first and as the waters recede, they will move up the mountain-sides. Greene also stated that most of the lower streams will be stocked by opening day.

According to Greene, fishermen in the Ulster county areas will not be hampered by any new laws governing the taking of trout. During the season, which runs from April 1 to Sept. 30, the creel limits is ten fish per day, with the exception of the Ashokan Reservoir, where the limit is three per day.

Those who may venture to Dutchess to try their luck before the season opens, will not be allowed to fish any of the trout streams. Ulster fishermen can fish any stream before the season, but must not take any trout.

So, by the end of the day, many of the Red and Reel Set will return home, some with a full box, others will not be so lucky. One thing that you can be sure of is the fact that they will all return home filled with stories of the "One that got away."

Good luck, fellows.

Jesters at New Paltz

NEW PALTZZ

It's the famed Philadelphia Jesters against the New Paltz Jets in a benefit basketball game here tonight at the New Paltz High school gym.

The crack comedy troupe will take on a squad headed by Pete Savago, chairman of the Ulster County Legislature.

The Jesters, unbeaten this season, combine a superlative brand of basketball with hijinks and comedy routines led by Bozo Walker, Mandrake Jordan, Slick Evans and Showboat Jordan.

Feature game is scheduled at 8 p. m. In the 7 p. m. prelim. New Paltz Firemen take on the Gardiner Smokeaters.

The game is sponsored by the New Paltz Jaycees.

We heartily endorse the recent gun legislation bill sponsored by Senators Edward Speno of Nassau and Jay P. Rolison, Jr., our own representative. It is a bill all sportsmen should endorse and is a partial answer to those who would like to deprive the legitimate gun owner from using his weapon for sport and recreation.

The bill which passed the Senate handily mandates jail sentences for those who are convicted of a crime wherever a weapon was used. It also provides for an additional five-year penalty which shall not be suspended nor conditional release given, nor parole attained during this period.

We now hope the Assembly and Gov. Rockefeller see fit to get this bill into law pronto. And to our senator, we appreciate your pre-election promises which are so often forgotten, after once reclining in those plush chairs at Albany.

THE NINTH ANNUAL deer forum sponsored by the Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs of Sullivan County will be held Saturday at the Lenape Hotel in Liberty.

Indications are that, despite a record deer kill this year, fireworks will explode when Mr. Deer (William Servingshaus) of the Conservation Department recommends a one-man party permit for Area "E." Some will disagree with us but, from this corner, we think it's about time the hunter has a word to say about the party permit system. Extra permits do one thing — pour more money into the state piggy banks — and where is this money going? Not for game protectors or law enforcement where it is desperately needed.

COMPLAINT DEPARTMENT: A call from a reader in Zena, who along with other fishermen, is up in arms about those 14-foot and over rods which some so-called fishermen are using to get their limit . . . and in some cases far, far over, we are told.

While the real sportsmen wade the stream and drift their lines, these "goons" simply reach over, brush and drop their bait into hard to get to spots and take fish by the basket full. It seems shameful to have men in the trout fishing fraternity that have forgotten, or never learned, the timely art. For this group, we suggest an easier way, stop by any supermarket for those frozen rainbows.

A PLEASANT SURPRISE last week when our Adirondack contact, professional guide Bun Arndt spent the evening with us. He reported very heavy snow, up to seven feet in the northland and up to 33 inches of ice on the lakes and ponds and temperatures still below zero almost every morning.

During the six-weeks Northern Zone deer season, only two weeks were fit for hunting and almost all his parties cancelled out when they saw the conditions. At present he is looking forward to some trapping, once the ice and snow recedes. He suggests that local fishermen wait until at least May before trying to do much fishing in any northern area.

Carroll's Bait Box, located for years on Route 28, is in process of moving next door to a fine, enlarged store which will feature the finest sporting goods equipment in the area, along with a complete selection of bait. The building formerly housed a Rotron factory. We join the many friends of Carroll in wishing him success at his new facilities.

Nice to hear the grand old man of the outdoors, Ray Tilson, still getting his share of perch through the ice on his favorite ponds.

OLD RIP SEZ: Warning to all employers: A 24-hour virus epidemic is predicted for all fishermen on Tuesday, April 1.

Colbert's First Win

PENSACOLA, Fla. (UPI)—Unheralded Jim Colbert, battling through a fierce wind that gusted up to 35 miles per hour, fired a 4-under-par 67 Tuesday in the long-delayed final round of the $100,000 Monsanto Open to grab his first victory in his five years on the pro golf tour.

The 28-year-old Colbert, who had been holding a one stroke lead since finishing the third round in rain Saturday, wound up with a 72-hole total of 17-under-par 267 — two strokes ahead of former two-time U. S. amateur champion Deane Beman and three ahead of U. S. Open Champion Lee Trevino.

Colbert, who had never before finished higher than his tie for third in the 1967 Greater Jacksonville Open, lost the lead momentarily to Beman on the first hole Tuesday when he bogeyed while the eventual second place finisher birdied. But he regained it three holes later and made the turn on the water-logged Pensacola Country Club Course all even.

He forged into the lead for keeps with back-to-back birdies at Nos. 10 and 11.

Colbert, a former Kansas State football player who failed to finish among the top 100 money winners last year and who had won only $2,700 this year, earned $20,000, a spot in the $150,000 tournament of champions and a year's exemption from qualifying on the tour. Beman got $11,400, Trevino $7,100.

It appeared for awhile, as the final round was rained out Sunday and again Monday and the weatherman forecast more rain for Tuesday, that Colbert would have to settle for $15,000 and miss both the tournament of champions and the exempt list as an unofficial 54-hole winner. There was 6.29 inches of rain here in less than 60 hours.

Two Nabbed, Charged With Car Thefts

RHINEBECK Dutchess County jail to await transfer.

State Police here arrested two persons on car theft charges Tuesday in separate incidents.

A 30-year-old Boston, Mass., man was charged with the theft of an auto in Cambridge, Mass., and a Troy youth was arrested for taking a car from a resident in that city.

Both were committed to the Poughkeepsie as he was driving a car stolen in Troy. Troopers said the car was found before the owner knew of the theft.

Appleman was taken before Town of Poughkeepsie Justice Lyle Quick.

Final Movie At Chambers

TOWN OF ULSTER

Saturday March 22, the Parent-Faculty Group of the Chambers School will sponsor its final full-length film of the season called "Indian Point."

It is the story of a chief's son and his painted coat. The film has won the Parents Magazine Family Medal Award.

The showing will take place at 2 p.m. and concludes at 3:45.

GM Is Recalling Some More Vehicles

DETROIT (AP) — Three weeks after announcing the biggest car recall in the automobile industry's history, General Motors is calling back another 1.1 million vehicles, this time for correction of possible brake defects.

The two recalls cover 6 million cars, buses and trucks.

Linked to the latest callback was the crash of a GM-built bus last autumn at Huntsville, Ala., which killed a 4-year-old boy and injured 24 other junior high school pupils.

On Feb. 26 GM asked owners of 4.9 million vehicles to take them back to dealers for correction of possible carburetor and exhaust system defects. GM said then four deaths had been attributed to faulty exhaust systems.

Involved in the new call were Pontiac cars and Chevrolet and GMC trucks and buses.

GM declined comment Tuesday on the crash of the General Motors bus in Alabama, but noted that an investigator for the National Highway Safety Bureau said that a seal in the bus's master brake cylinder was worn enough to cause a hydraulic pressure failure.

The report, GM said, also stated the vehicle's brake linings were worn and could have been a contributing factor to the crash.

GM also said seven accidents had been reported involving trucks, another involving a school bus and something under controls hydraulic pressure in the brake system.

—2,040 Chevrolet and GMC four wheel drive light duty trucks which may have a brake drum distortion caused by wheel interference. This could eventually result in cracking of the wheel disc.

—630 GMC heavy duty highway tractors for rerouting of air brake application valve hoses to prevent possible chafing on left front tires during full right turns. Rupture and loss of brake action could result.

GM listed these model years and vehicles: 147,000 Chevrolet and GMC medium duty truck chassis for model years 1967 and 1968; 8,300 Chevrolet bus chassis, 1967 and 1968; 6,000 GMC medium duty truck chassis built in the early model run of 1969; and 2,150 GMC bus chassis for model years 1967 and 1968.

Owners of the suspected vehicles will be notified by registered mail. They will be asked to take their cars, trucks and buses to dealers for inspection and possible repair at no cost, GM said.

Dear Abby

Should She Move In?

By Abigail Van Buren
(© 1969 by Chicago Tribune - N. Y. News Synd., Inc.)

DEAR ABBY: I am 52 and I have been keeping fairly steady company with a man who is 60. He's very considerate, generous, and I certainly appreciate his company, after having been a lonely widow for four years.

He asked me if I would like to move in and keep house for him so we can find out if we are "compatible" before trying marriage. He says there is nothing wrong with it at our ages.

I refused. Was I foolish? Lately I have been reconsidering his proposition. I don't enjoy being alone. He has money and could get plenty of other women on his terms.

Can you help me come to a decision?

LEXINGTON LADY: I say, let some other woman have the pleasure of "moving in" with him to find out if she is "compatible." Respectable couples of all ages still marry before they live together. If you want to be a "housekeeper" with sleep-in privileges, it's up to you.

DEAR ABBY: My father-in-law likes to tell about the only time, in his life he made a mistake, and that was when he "thought" he was wrong, and then found out he wasn't.

My former roommate was a public health nurse in San Francisco, and her job was to call on welfare cases to see if the children were properly fed and clothed. She told me (and there was no reason for her to lie) that about half the children were adequately cared for, but she usually found plenty of cigarettes, beer, and liquor in the home, and oftentimes a man in the bedroom. She said one mother had 12 illegitimate children. She got $800 a month, which was maximum, so she put her 13-year-old daughter to work starting a new family.

Abby, $148 (tax free) for one child, plus $1 per day, times 30 days per month, times five or six children, plus free housing, medical care, and food stamps, equals what some working men have to raise their families on. I am not saying that anyone is getting rich on welfare, but I wonder what would happen if these women were required to rise and shine at 6 a.m. and go to work in order to raise their illegitimate children.

You were right the first time when you said you thought that any woman who bears more than one illegitimate child should be taken off welfare. By apologizing for your original statement, I believe you made your first mistake.

MRS. R. C. M., JR., GLENDALE, CALIF.
DEAR MRS. R. C. M., JR.: You're mighty kind, ma'am, but if my original statement was a mistake, it wasn't my first.

DEAR ABBY: We are childless after 10 years of marriage, altho we would dearly love to have a family. We go out with people about our ages and most of them have children.

Whenever we meet new people, the conversation invariably turns to children. I am often asked, point-blank, "Do you have any children?" It is becoming more and more painful to reply no. WHY do people ask this?

Don't they realize that parents always mention their children if they have any?

I have even been asked, after having remarked that I have no children, "WHY NOT?" Abby, this has been a very painful subject for me, and I'd rather not discuss it. Can you say something to stop people from asking such cruel questions?

Everybody has a problem. What's yours? For a personal reply write to Abby, Box 69700, Los Angeles, Cal., 90069 and enclose a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

It's In The Stars

("The wise man controls his destiny . . . astrology points the way.")

FORECAST FOR THURSDAY MARCH 20, 1969

ARIES (March 21-April 19): Budget time and money. Overcome temptation to skip details. Otherwise, you pay a dear price. Day can be wisely used to collect facts, data. Genuine bargain is available. Be alert.

TAURUS (April 20-May 20): Bright idea should be followed through; day can feature real progress. Your personality sparkles; many are attracted. Take initiative. Ask questions—answers are obtainable.

GEMINI (May 21-June 20): Thoughts may center around residence, domestic situation. Some secrets are exposed. Don't cast first stone. If understanding, you gain love. Otherwise, you invite retribution.

CANCER (June 21-July 22): Accent on friends, social activity. Aura of glamor is apparent. But don't forget recent resolution. You made promise to loved one which should be kept. Avoid extravagance.

LEO (July 23-Aug. 22): Day features responsibility. Extra duties are highlighted. Overtime assignment could be blessing in disguise. Display unique abilities. Those in authority are interested in your work.

VIRGO (Aug. 23-Sept. 22): Accent on faraway places, persons. Good for mailing manuscripts. You also could map advertising campaign. Get thoughts on paper; prepare format. Write, express views.

LIBRA (Sept. 23-Oct. 22): You may find it difficult to pin people down regarding financial matters. Be self-reliant. Protect your interests. Some are only too willing to take risks—with you money.

SCORPIO (Oct. 23-Nov. 21):

Be aware of public relations. Give mate, partner chance to grab spotlight. Day to do more listening than asserting. Be receptive. Avoid tendency to be moody. Get sufficient nourishment.

SAGITTARIUS (Nov. 22-Dec. 21): Obtain hint from SCORPIO message. Don't be in too much of a hurry. Finish work before attending social affair. Demands are made on your time. Avoid waste. Sense of humor is great ally.

CAPRICORN (Dec. 22-Jan. 19): Lunar aspect today favors creative endeavors. Come out of shell. Permit loved one to know just how you feel. Throw off inhibitions—especially good for dealing with children.

AQUARIUS (Jan. 20-Feb. 18): Change occurs at home. Ride with the tide. Means don't oppose progress. Security enhanced if you make necessary repairs. Answers to pressing problems are obtained. Don't try to force issues.

IF TODAY IS YOUR BIRTHDAY: You are forthright, capable of leading. You learn from experience. Mistakes seldom occur twice. You do attract envy. Many feel you are given special privileges. Beneficial change is due. A partnership may be reaching conclusion.

GENERAL TENDENCIES: The spring equinox. (To find out who's lucky for you in money and love, order Sydney Omarr's booklet, "Secret Hints for Men and Women." Send birthdate and 50 cents to Omarr Astrology Secrets, The Kingston Daily Freeman, Box 3240, Grand Central Station, New York, N. Y. 10017.)

North and South did well to get to five diamonds. Most pairs would wander into three no-trump or four hearts. A club lead would leave the no-trump bidders two tricks down before they started.

North was John Fisher of Dallas. South was Emma Jean Hayes of Fort Worth. This partnership has won any number of national mixed events and one Open Pairs, and you would expect them to get to the right contract.

Perfect defense would set five diamonds a trick but West led the queen of hearts and Emma Jean proceeded to show that bidding wasn't the only strong part of her game.

She used the C of the code word ARCE to Count her winners and losers. She came to 10 winners and three losers. How to make the hand was easy also. She had to set up one of dummy's hearts for a discard of one of her black suit losers.

If hearts break 3-3, she could set up two and make an over-trick. If they break 4-2, it would be necessary for her to duck the first heart in order to establish the fifth one. This duck would leave her down two if West had opened a five-card suit.

Emma Jean decided to take that chance to give herself the best play for 11 tricks. West shifted to the ace of clubs but too late. Emma Jean ruffed the club continuation, cashed two high trumps and the ace-king of hearts for one spade discard. ruffed another heart, entered dummy with the jack of trumps and made the all-important contract trick with last heart. monogamy (muh-NOG-uh-me) the custom or practice of being married to one person at a time

Monogamy, the only legal form of marriage in the United States, is law in most western nations. The radical ideas of free thinkers, the minister warned threaten the monogamous society. It is the playboy's wildest hope that someday polygamy would replace monogamy.

Jean Adams' TEEN FORUM

SEX SCHOOL? (Q.) My girl friend and I have a younger girl friend. She's 13. We think she needs to know about sex and we are willing to teach her.

But if we mention one word about it, she goes to another room to study. How can we get her to listen to us?—A Girl Reader in Wisconsin.

(A.) I believe you just want to talk about sex, and "teaching" your young friend would give you just the excuse you need.

Whether or not she wants to discuss sex at the age of 13 is her business. She's probably shy. Many girls her age are. It could be, however, that she knows more about sex than you do, but thinks it isn't something for girls to sit around and gossip about. It isn't, you know.

KNEE BONES: (Q.) All the guys at school tell me I've got good legs. But I know from close-up study that my knees are bony. What can I do about them?—A Good Fan in Lubbock, Texas.

(A.) If the guys like you the way you are, let well enough alone.

So far as your knees are concerned, you'd have to do pretty much just that, anyway. They are one set of equipment a girl can do little to change.

Gaining weight all over sometimes smooths knees out, but it is likely to cause bigger trouble elsewhere. Wise girls make the most of the legs or knees they have by displaying them to the best possible advantage.

First find out how your legs and knees look best. Get in front of a good mirror and carefully observe your best sitting and standing positions. Just a little half-turn of your body may do wonders for your underpinnings. When you find your best stance, stick to it.

Wise girls also take advantage of clever fashion coverings. Pantsuits, high boots, panty hose in a color to match skirt and shoes, mid-skirts—all these are fine for camouflage when it is needed.

Supervision Esopus Topic

By HUGH REYNOLDS

PORT EWEN
Supervision of patients and not the presence of patients at a family care center in Sleightsburg proved to be the main topic of discussion between residents of the Sleightsburg area and officials of the Hudson River State Hospital in a special meeting of the Esopus Town Board here last night.

Some 50 persons and the full town board turned out to hear Edward Wylcenski and George Fuller explain what was going on at the former Van Horn Nursing Home in Sleightsburg which now houses nine patients from the Hudson River State Hospital.

Supervision of those patients, or rather, the lack of supervision, seemed to be the main bone of contention and Wylcenski's answers to pointed questions by the residents gave little reason for assurance that the patients were being properly supervised.

In fact, Wylcenski appeared to have some doubts himself after hearing statements from residents of the area who have been keeping a close watch on the so-called halfway house.

Wylcenski said he was led to believe by Mrs. Lillian Becker, the owner of the home, that Mrs. Barbara Ashdown was a full time cook, house cleaner and resident of the home in a supervisory capacity.

Residents told a different story. They said that Mrs. Ashdown apparently did not spend her nights at the former Van Horn Nursing Home. A number of them said they had observed lights burning at the home at 4 a.m. on several mornings.

Wylcenski was asked if the State Hospital inspected family care centers to see if they were being properly supervised. Fuller replied that he had been to the home three times last week but all three visits had been during daylight hours. He noted that there had been no inspections at night and that his department worked on an 8 a.m. to 5 p.m. schedule.

There appeared to be little protest against the patients themselves, in fact, a number of residents expressed concern for the patients and sympathy for their problem.

According to Wylcenski, the patients have all been thoroughly examined by state hospital officials and pronounced able to leave the hospital for a family care center from which they are expected to shortly return to normal community living. Of the nine patients in Sleightsburg, seven of them work at Gateway Industries, one works in Kingston and another, who is not working yet, remains at the home all day.

With proper supervision and medication, Wylcenski allowed, the patients could in no way be considered dangerous to the community. Wylcenski noted that "99 per cent" of the patients in family care centers were under some sort of medication, usually tranquilizers.

That statement brought questions as to whether or not the patients were receiving proper medication as it appeared that they were not receiving proper supervision.

It was also brought out that Mrs. Ashdown does not keep charts on patient medication and that a doctor in Ulster County has not been assigned to handle emergencies that might arise at the home.

Wylcenski admitted that he did not have firm answers on some of the residents' questions in that the hospital had relied on the patients, Mrs. Ashdown and Mrs. Becker for information.

He promised a full investigation of the situation "as soon as possible."

A spokesman for the residents said that their complaint was not against the patients but against the administration of the family care center.

DOG DEGREE — Maggie, a German Shepherd protege of the Ulster County SPCA, owned by Katherine Stoutenburgh, received the coveted Companion Dog degree from the American Kennel Club. This is the sixth dog Mrs. Stoutenburgh has shown to receive Companion Dog degrees.

Toaster Stolen
A newly purchased electric toaster valued at $25 was stolen Tuesday night from the back seat of a car parked in the parking lot in front of Wallace's Department Store. The owner of the car, Frank Zammillo of Glasco, reported the theft to the County Sheriff's Department.

Revelation at Bailey School:

70 Pct. of City Youth 'Try' Drugs

By WALTER S. CLARK

KINGSTON
Shocking, health-rotting consequences that can develop from the promiscuous use of narcotics that may start as "a dare," were vividly described Tuesday night to upwards of 630 persons—mostly parents—in the auditorium of the J. Watson Bailey School.

The speaker at the meeting called by the newly organized Parent-Teacher-Student Association of the school, was Thomas Mayone, investigator from the office of District Attorney Joseph P. Torraca.

Some of the revelations of the effects of narcotics on young people in the area, brought to the attention of parents by Mayone, were startling and resulted in a volley of questions at the close of the speaker's remarks.

The session opened with a film on marijuana, which showed a group of young people at a pot party, imbibing in the weed and smoking the harmful, drug-filled cigarette that often acts as an inducement on the part of the user to take stronger narcotics. The effect of the marijuana on the users was dramatically depicted and served as a warning to parents to survey the situation in their homes relating to their sons and daughters.

Mayone told the parents that it is "rather easy" to buy marijuana and some other drugs in this area, and at this point he noted that there is a lack of a sufficient number of trained men to successfully combat the narcotics problem in Kingston and the county.

The speaker said that documentary evidence shows that 70 per cent of the city's young people have "experimented" with drugs of some form by either smoking one marijuana cigarette or sniffing glue that could result in brain, liver or lung damage, or even death through suffocation or choking.

Between 10 and 12 per cent of the young people in the school district are using marijuana or some other drug, be it a pot party, imbibing in the weed and smoking the harmful, drug-filled cigarette that often acts as an inducement on the

of one 17-year-old youth who consumed 22 bottles of cough medicine that contained codeine, which the teenager obtained from some 15 drug stores by using false names. The parents were told during a question and answer period of the many ways they could determine whether their sons or daughters were using narcotics. He demonstrated the glow of the light of a real cigarette and noted that there is no glow when a marijuana cigarette is lit.

"Marijuana has no odor unless it is burned and then it has a very distant odor that can easily be detected," Mayone said. He explained that heroin looks like confectionary sugar and he described the appearance of other dangerous drugs.

The meeting was the first of a series to be sponsored by the Bailey PTS, which will continue its program in a fight against narcotics. Mrs. Stanley Leyden, elected as the association's first president presided.

IF YOU DON'T KNOW MUCH ABOUT YOUR WATER HEATER IT'S PROBABLY ELECTRIC

What's to know?
It never makes any noise — it's clean as a light bulb — completely safe — and since it doesn't need a flue or chimney it can be put right out of sight in a closet or under a counter! And an electric water heater lasts and lasts because there's practically nothing there to go wrong.

When you turn the tap you get plenty of hot water. That's all. So who wants to be a water heater expert? Leave that to us.

You can BUY or RENT (only $1.95 a month) one of these very forget-able electric water heaters. For complete details call us or send in the coupon. No obligation.

Yes, I'd like complete information on an Electric Water Heater.
